EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE.

☞ Be particular in ordering to specify editions, and to give the full name of the book, as quoted on this price-list. Old editions, superseded by new issues, are not included in this list; see previous catalogues.

THE

AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE FOR 1890.

[PUBLISHERS' PRICES.]

NOTICE.—In this Catalogue only prices made by publishers themselves are given—retail, if retail, in first column; "net" (wholesale), if "net," in second column; where a "mailing" percentage is specified by the publisher, the "mailing price" is given in the retail column marked with an asterisk (*), in addition to the wholesale price. When price-columns are left blank, the publisher failed, on application, to furnish price. A double asterisk () in price-columns designates books forthcoming. New books, issued since the publication of the Catalogue of 1889, are designated by a single asterisk () before title.*

☞ In comparing prices or ordering at retail, private buyers should bear in mind that a percentage must be added to prices quoted at wholesale, to cover freight, handling, delivering, etc. Discounts on quantities vary on different lines, according to the kind of prices adopted by the respective publishers.

For subject classification (and for collective references to classic authors entered here under separate editors), see the second part of the Catalogue, following this main alphabet.

The PROPHET of PALMYRA.

Gregg. The Prophet of Palmyra. Mormonism Reviewed and Examined in the Life, Character and Career of its Founder, etc., etc. By Thomas Gregg. 12mo, cloth, $1.00. Now ready.

"To the people of this vicinity the book is doubly interesting. Thomas Gregg, its author, is an old resident of the country, and his intimate knowledge of the Mormons, and familiarity with many of their leaders, makes this book authoritative to many of us who know Mr. Gregg personally. The trace of the careful, honest historian is seen all through its pages, while its finish, mechanically, reflects credit upon the publisher."—Hamilton Pointer, Hancock Co., Ill.

"A work written by our venerable friend, Thomas Gregg, of Hamilton. The book is not only replete with historical information, but it is written in an interesting style that holds the attention of the reader. It is a valuable accession to literature, and it will prove of especial worth to people of this vicinity, once the centre of Mormonism—particularly to the generations that have come on the stage of life since many of the incidents recorded in this book were enacted. Not only is it worth a place in every man's library, but the price of the work makes this possible. Although a well-bound volume of 352 pages, it costs but one dollar."—Bulletin, Warsaw, Ill.

TO THE TRADE.

For some time past the Book Trade has felt and expressed the want of a line of Bibles divested of the many objectionable features in the way of flashy pictures and inappropriate engravings which at intervals have crept into the Sacred Volume, much to the disgust of the Bible-reading community; and, with this fact in view, we present to the trade an entire new line of Family and Pulpit Bibles, which for chasteness of engravings and beauty of letter-press and binding far exceeds any that has as yet been offered to the public.

In selecting the engravings and the collateral matter, great care has been exercised, that nothing should appear in these editions of the Bible that would offend the most fastidious mind; and, whilst they are offered at lower prices than any others heretofore published, the highest standard of finish, together with a uniform quality of paper, engravings, letter-press and binding, will be scrupulously maintained.

In offering this new line of Family and Pulpit Bibles, the Publisher desires to state that neither expense nor pains have been spared to make it the cheapest, the handsomest and the best ever offered to the American Book Trade.

The electrotype plates are the newest made, being cast from large, open letter, and the Bibles themselves are printed on fine white paper made expressly for these editions. The stamps, dies, tools, etc., are entirely new and original, and have been designed and executed by the best artists. The bindings are Ornate and London Antique, in French, German and Turkey moroccos, with cloth joints and laced in boards.

☞ Special attention is directed to our New Royal Quarto and New Imperial Quarto Oxford Editions, the first impressions from entirely new plates, cast from clear open type in London, expressly for our House. These editions are superior to any other Family or Pulpit Bibles published in the United States. They will be found fully described under the head of New Royal Quarto Edition, embracing Nos. 200 to 213, and* New Imperial Quarto Edition, embracing Nos. 250 to 254 and A to I*.*

In addition to our superior Bibles, we manufacture a line of Photograph Albums for cabinet and carte-de-visite pictures, bound in fine silk plush, sealskin and Russia, and in moroccos with beautiful gold bevel mats, never before produced in this country (patent applied for), which is offered at prices that compare favorably with all foreign or domestic goods.

Our manufactory, besides being one of the most completely equipped in the country, possesses all the modern machinery and other appliances for producing superior work, and none but the best skilled workmen are or will be employed in any branch. Ample facilities are provided to enable us to fill all orders with care and promptness.

Our superb line of high-class publications, illustrated, are pronounced by the most capable critics in the trade to be superior in the following essential qualities: Large, Clear, Open Type; New and Unworn Plates; Superior Full-Page Engravings; Artistic and Uniform Printing; Fine Sized and Calendered Paper; Beautiful and Durable Bindings; Prices as low as consistent with first-class workmanship and best materials.

The line includes the Dore Bible Gallery; Milton's Paradise Lost; Dante's Inferno; Dante's Purgatory and Paradise, Coleridge's Rime of the Ancient Mariner, Tennyson's Idylls of the King, all illustrated by Gustave Dore; and Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress, illustrated by Frederick Barnard.

PSALM III.

The security of God's protection.

¶ A Psalm of David, *when he fled from Absalom his son.

LORD, [a]how are they increased that trouble me? many are they that rise up against me.

2 Many there be which say of my soul, [b]There is no help for him in God. Selah.

3 But thou, O LORD, art [c]a shield ‖for me; my glory, and [d]the lifter up of mine head.

4 I cried unto the LORD with my voice, and [e]he heard me out of his [f]holy hill. Selah.

5 [g]I laid me down and slept; I awaked; for the LORD sustained me.

6 [h]I will not be afraid of ten thousands of people, that have set themselves against me round about.

7 Arise, O LORD; save me, O my God; [i]for thou hast smitten all mine enemies upon the cheek-bone; thou hast broken the teeth of the ungodly.

8 [k]Salvation belongeth unto the LORD: thy blessing is upon thy people. Selah.

PSALM IV.

2 O ye sons of men, how long will ye turn my glory into shame? how long will ye love vanity, and

¶ To the chief Musician on Neginoth ‖*upon Sheminith, A Psalm of David.

O "LORD, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chasten me in thy hot displeasure.

2 [a]Have mercy upon me, O LORD; for I am weak: O LORD, [b]heal me; for my bones are vexed.

The Psalmist voweth perpetual praises to God.

The Epistle of PAUL the Apostle to the PHILIPPIANS.

1 Paul and Timothy, [a]servants of Christ Jesus, to all the saints in Christ Jesus which are at Philippi, with the [b]bishops and deacons: 2Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

3 I thank my God upon all my remembrance of you, 4always in every supplication of mine on behalf of you all making my supplication with joy, 5for your fellowship in furtherance of the gospel from the first day until now; 6being confident of this very thing, that he which began a good work in you will perfect it until the day of Jesus Christ: 7even as it is right for me to be thus minded on behalf of you all, because [c]I have you in my heart, inasmuch as, both in my bonds and in the defence and confirmation of the gospel, ye all are partakers with me of grace.
8For God is my witness, how I long after you all in the tender mercies of Christ Jesus. 9And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and all discernment; 10so that ye may [d]approve the things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and void of offence unto the day of Christ; 11being filled with the [e]fruits of righteousness, which are through Jesus Christ, unto the glory and praise of God.

12 Now I would have you know, brethren, that the things which happened unto me have fallen out rather unto the progress of the gospel; 13so that my thinking to raise up affliction for me in my bonds.
15What then? only that in every way, whether in pretence or in truth, Christ is proclaimed; and therein
I rejoice, yea, and will rejoice. 19For I know that this shall turn to my salvation, through your supplication and the supply of the Spirit of Jesus Christ, 20according to my earnest expectation and hope, that in nothing shall I be put to shame, but that with all boldness, as always, so now also Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether by life, or by death.
21For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain.
22[h]But if to live in the flesh,—if this is the fruit of my work, then [i]what I shall choose [j]I wot not. 23But I am in a strait betwixt the two, having the desire to depart and be with Christ; for it is very far better:
24yet to abide in the flesh is more needful for your sake. 25And having this confidence, I know that I shall abide, yea, and abide with you all, for your progress and joy [k]in the faith; 26that your glorying may abound in Christ Jesus in me through my presence with you again. 27Only [l]let your manner of life be worthy of the gospel of Christ: that, whether I come and see you or be absent, I may hear of your state, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one soul striving [m]for the faith of the gospel: 28and in nothing affrighted by the adversaries: which is for them an evident token of perdition, but of your salvation, and that from God; 29because to you it hath been granted

PSALMS I.—V.

PSALM I.

1 THAT man hath perfect blessedness
who walketh not astray
In counsel of ungodly men,
nor stands in sinners' way,
Nor sitteth in the scorner's chair:
2 But placeth his delight
Upon God's law, and meditates on his law day and night.

3 He shall be like a tree that grows
near planted by a river,
Which in his season yields his fruit,
and his leaf fadeth never:
And all he doth shall prosper well.
4 The wicked are not so;
But like they are unto the chaff,
which wind drives to and fro.

5 In judgment therefore shall not stand such as ungodly are;
Nor in th' assembly of the just shall wicked men appear.
6 For why? the way of godly men unto the Lord is known:
Whereas the way of wicked men shall quite be overthrown.

PSALM II.

1 WHY rage the heathen? and vain
why do the people mind? [things
2 Kings of the earth do set themselves,
and princes are combin'd,
To plot against the Lord, and his Anointed, saying thus,
3 Let us asunder break their bands,
8 Ask of me, and for heritage
the heathen I'll make thine;
And, for possession, I to thee
will give earth's utmost line.

9 Thou shalt, as with a weighty rod of iron, break them all;
And, as a potter's sherd, thou shalt them dash in pieces small.
10 Now therefore, kings, be wise; be ye judges of the earth: [taught,
11 Serve God in fear, and see that ye join trembling with your mirth.

12 Kiss ye the Son, lest in his ire
ye perish from the way,
If once his wrath begin to burn:
bless'd all that on him stay.

PSALM III.

1 O LORD, how are my foes increas'd?
against me many rise.
2 Many say of my soul, For him
in God no succour lies.
3 Yet thou my shield and glory art,
th' uplifter of mine head.
4 I cry'd, and, from his holy hill,
the Lord me answer made.

5 I laid me down and slept, I wak'd;
for God sustained me.
6 I will not fear though thousands ten set round against me be.
7 Arise, O Lord; save me, my God:
for thou my foes hast stroke
All on the cheek-bone, and the teeth
How long my glory turn to shame,
and will ye follow lies?

3 But know, that for himself the Lord
the godly man doth chuse:
The Lord, when I on him do call,
to hear will not refuse.
4 Fear, and sin not; talk with your heart
on bed, and silent be.
5 Off'rings present of righteousness,
and in the Lord trust ye.

6 O who will shew us any good?
is that which many say:
But of thy countenance the light,
Lord, lift on us alway.
7 Upon my heart, bestow'd by thee,
more gladness I have found Than they, ev'n then, when corn and did most with them abound. [wine

8 I will both lay me down in peace, and quiet sleep will take;
Because thou only me to dwell in safety, Lord, dost make.

PSALM V.

1 GIVE ear unto my words, O Lord,
my meditation weigh.
2 Hear my loud cry, my King, my God;
for I to thee will pray.
3 Lord, thou shalt early hear my voice:
I early will direct
My pray'r to thee; and, looking up,
an answer will expect.

A PRICELESS PEARL FROM THE SEA OF LITERATURE.

The Rime of the Ancient Mariner

BY

SAMUEL TAYLOR COLERIDGE.

Embellished with Forty-One Full-Page Engravings

By the Renowned Artist

GUSTAVE DORE.

Edited by HENRY C. WALSH, A. M.

In the weird and preternatural realms of literature, "The Rime of the Ancient Mariner" stands pre-eminent; yet with all its weirdness no one can read the poem without being the wiser and better for it. It portrays with exquisite art a moral that all should know and heed and make a part of themselves—"the care the Creator has for his humblest creatures and the offense that is given Him by their wanton destruction."

By a few vivid touches the OLD MARINER, with his skinny hand and glittering eye, is made to stand before us, and holds us breathless with the recital of his thrilling story. We cannot let him go until we have heard it all. Our amazement increases as we are given wonderful glimpses of the Spirit-land—pictures colored with the weird and awe-inspiring light of another world; the shooting of the albatross (the incident on which the story is founded); the lurid, blistering, calm that afterward fell on the sea; the skeleton ship; the lonely Mariner amid the corpses of his mates; the serpents of the deep; the coming of the storm, and the final deliverance of the Mariner from his doom.

England's famous poet and critic, Charles Algernon Swinburne, can scarcely find words to give due praise to this masterpiece of poetry. He says: "It is, perhaps, the most wonderful of all poems, and for absolute melody and splendor it were hardly rash to call it the first poem in the language." Many other of the world's most prominent and able critics agree with his laudation of this brilliant gem.

Only the artistic imagery of Gustave Doré could fitly interpret the genius of Coleridge. A subtle sympathy appears to exist between them. The pencil of the artist has interpreted with wonderful skill and keenest appreciation the fanciful creations of the poet. The poem is inseparable from the illustrations; together they make a volume that is a grand instructor as well as a masterpiece of art and an ornament to any home.

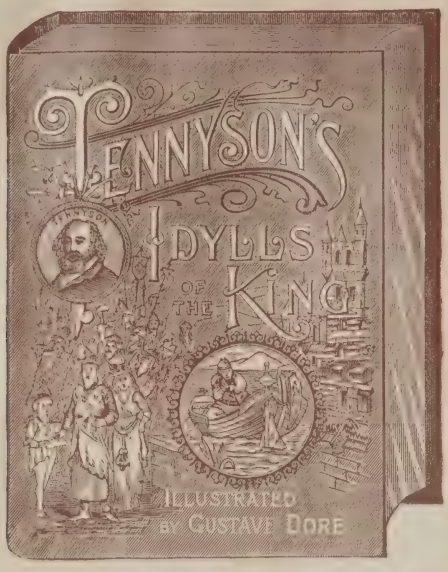
Brilliant Rays of Fairy Romance from the Lights of Genius.



TENNYSON'S

IDYLLS OF THE KING.

Embellished with 37 Magnificent full-page Engravings,

By GUSTAVE DORE,

THE RENOWNED FRENCH ARTIST.

The Poet Laureate, in the Idylls of the King, steps into the charmed circles of the fairy-land of tradition and translates the vague echoes of distant music into melodious verse, and gives new interest to the old and hoary legends handed down from the days of the early bards.

In these poems, the finest qualities of Tennyson's genius appear. He allies living grace and beauty with the loveliness of inanimate nature and infuses the old legends with a spirit and pathos that appeal to our intellect and feelings. A recent writer has well observed that Tennyson, in these poems, has "put a soul into what had been a shapeless mass of incidents of combats and armor."

A greater proof of Gustave Doré's genius can not be found than that shown by the remarkable success with which he has illustrated Tennyson's master-work. Two men of the highest genius could scarcely be more diverse in mental attributes than Tennyson and Doré, yet, with his characteristic flexibility of genius, the wonderful French artist has adapted himself to the poet's influence. In Gustave Doré, the most consummate master of the English tongue has found an illustrator worthy of his genius.

The aim of the publisher has been to excel, in the mechanical execution of the volume, anything heretofore attempted. The volume is printed from large, clear type on fine sized and super-calendered paper, made expressly for the work. The type is large, clear and easy to the eye. The bindings are remarkable for the richness and beauty of the designs. At the low prices at which the work is offered it is hoped that it will find the large sale that it so well deserves.

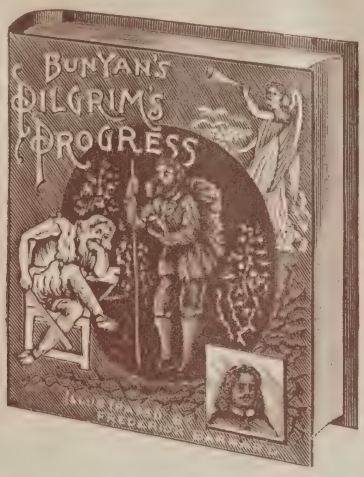
THE MOST PERFECT GEM IN ALLEGORY.



THE PILGRIM'S PROGRESS

By JOHN BUNYAN.

ILLUSTRATED WITH ONE HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS BY THE RENOWNED ARTISTS

FREDERICK BARNARD,

BREWTNALL, DALZIELL, GREENE, LINTON, SMALL, RALSTON AND WOLFE.

When John Bunyan sent forth from Bedford jail the marvelous allegorical narrative of a Christian's voyage of life, his most sanguine admirers could not have ventured to predict that it would become a fixed star of the first magnitude in the firmament of literature, whose brilliancy is only exceeded by the hallowed rays of light shed from The Book of Books itself. Coming from the untutored mind of Bunyan, the gypsy-tinker, the Pilgrim's Progress is a wonderful inspiration and has been fittingly termed by the great historian Macaulay, "the highest miracle of genius."

Great minds and noble characters have always made their impress on the world's annals under the oppressing hand of the persecutor. So it was with Bunyan. His precise delineations of the many incongruities of human nature, produced while suffering the tortures of a dungeon-cell, have become for him a monument of undying fame.

What Bunyan so vividly portrayed for the mind's imagination, is grandly mirrored for the eye in the master work of the illustrators, Frederick Barnard, and the other noble artists.

The high standard of excellence in mechanical execution, that is characteristic of Altemus' Editions, is fully maintained in this publication, making it a highly attractive as well as a very valuable volume.

The low price places the work within the easy reach of all.

dead, and quickeneth them; even so the Son quickeneth whom he will.

22 For the Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment unto the Son:

23 That all men should honour the Son, even as they honour the Father. He that honoureth not the Son honoureth not the Father which hath sent him.

24 Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life.

25 Verily, verily, I say unto you, The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God: and they that hear shall live.

26 For as the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself;

27 And hath given him authority to execute judgment also, because he is the Son of man.

28 Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice,

29 And shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.

30 I can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge: and my judgment is just; because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me.

31 If I bear witness of myself, my witness is not true.

32 ¶ There is another that beareth witness of me; and I know that the witness which he witnesseth of me is true.

33 Ye sent unto John, and he bare witness unto the truth.

34 But I receive not testimony from man: but these things I say, that ye might be saved.

35 He was a burning and a shining light: and ye were willing for a season to rejoice in his light.

36 ¶ But I have greater witness than that of John: for the works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me.

37 And the Father himself, which hath sent me, hath borne witness of me. Ye have neither heard his voice at any time, nor seen his shape.

38 And ye have not his word abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye believe not.

39 ¶ Search the Scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life: and they are they which testify of me.

40 And ye will not come to me, that ye might have life.

41 I receive not honour from men.

42 But I know you, that ye have not the love of God in you.

43 I am come in my Father's name, and ye receive me not: if another shall come in his own name, him ye will receive.

44 How can ye believe, which receive honour one of another, and seek not the honour that cometh from God only?

45 Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses, in whom ye trust.

46 For had ye believed Moses, ye would have believed me: for he wrote of me.

47 But if ye believe not his writings, how shall ye believe my words?

CHAPTER VI.

1 Christ feedeth five thousand men with five loaves and two fishes. 15 Thereupon the people would have made him king. 16 But withdrawing himself, he walketh on the sea to his disciples: 26 reproveth the people flocking after him, and all the fleshly hearers of his word: 32 declareth himself to be the bread of life to believers. 66 Many disciples depart from him. 68 Peter confesseth him. 70 Judas is a devil.

AFTER these things Jesus went over the sea of Galilee, which is the sea of Tiberias.

2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles which he did on them that were diseased.

3 And Jesus went up into a mountain, and there he sat with his disciples.

4 And the passover, a feast of the Jews, was nigh.

5 ¶ When Jesus then lifted up his eyes, and saw a great company come unto him, he saith unto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these may eat?

6 And this he said to prove him: for he himself knew what he would do.

7 Philip answered him, Two hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.

8 One of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, saith unto him,

9 There is a lad here, which hath five barley loaves, and two small fishes: but what are they among so many?

10 And Jesus said, Make the men sit down. Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, in number about five thousand.

11 And Jesus took the loaves; and when he had given thanks, he distributed to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set down; and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.

12 When they were filled, he said unto his disciples, Gather up the fragments that remain, that nothing be lost.

13 Therefore they gathered them together, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley loaves,

Christ asserteth CHAPTER VI. his power.

26 For as the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself;
27 And hath given him authority to execute judgment also, because he is the Son of man.
28 Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice,
29 And shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.
30 I can of mine own self do nothing: as I hear, I judge: and my judgment is just; because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me.
31 If I bear witness of myself, my witness is not true.
32 ¶ There is another that beareth witness of me; and I know that the witness which he witnesseth of me is true.
33 Ye sent unto John, and he bare witness unto the truth.
34 But I receive not testimony from man: but these things I say, that ye might be saved.
35 He was a burning and a shining light: and ye were willing for a season to rejoice in his light.
36 ¶ But I have greater witness than that of John: for the works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me.
37 And the Father himself, which hath sent me, hath borne witness of me. Ye have neither heard his voice at any time, nor seen his shape.
38 And ye have not his word abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye believe not.
39 ¶ Search the Scriptures; for in them ye think ye have eternal life: and they are they which testify of me.
40 And ye will not come to me, that ye might have life.
41 I receive not honour from men.
42 But I know you, that ye have not the love of God in you.
43 I am come in my Father's name, and ye receive me not: if another shall come in his own name, him ye will receive.
44 How can ye believe, which receive honour one of another, and seek not the honour that cometh from God only?
45 Do not think that I will accuse you to the Father: there is one that accuseth you, even Moses, in whom ye trust.
46 For had ye believed Moses, ye would have believed me: for he wrote of me.
47 But if ye believe not his writings, how shall ye believe my words?

CHAPTER VI.

Five thousand fed.

AFTER these things Jesus went over the sea of Galilee, which is the sea of Tiberias.
2 And a great multitude followed him, because they saw his miracles which he did on them that were diseased.
3 And Jesus went up into a mountain, and there he sat with his disciples.
4 And the passover, a feast of the Jews, was nigh.
5 ¶ When Jesus then lifted up his eyes, and saw a great company come unto him, he saith unto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these may eat?
6 And this he said to prove him: for he himself knew what he would do.
7 Philip answered him, Two hundred pennyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.
8 One of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, saith unto him,
9 There is a lad here, which hath five barley loaves, and two small fishes: but what are they among so many?
10 And Jesus said, Make the men sit down. Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, in number about five thousand.
11 And Jesus took the loaves; and when he had given thanks, he distributed to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set down; and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.

The American Book Company is a Stock Company incorporated under State laws for the purpose of carrying on the manufacture and sale of books.

Its places of business are at Nos. 806 and 808 Broadway, New York; 137 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio; and Nos. 258 and 260 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Ills.

The American Book Company has purchased the school-book publications hitherto issued by D. Appleton & Co., A. S. Barnes & Co., Harper & Brothers, and Ivison, Blakeman & Co., of New York; and by Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., of Cincinnati. The Company will faithfully carry out all contracts entered into by these firms for the publication and supply of their respective books. The Text-Books which have thus been acquired by The American Book Company have been intimately associated with the history of educational progress of this country for over half a century, and the Company will devote its best efforts to sustain the great reputation these lists have achieved. To this end it will seek the aid and co-operation of educators and authors in maintaining the quality and accuracy of its publications, and in the preparation of such new and original books as the progressive demands of the schools shall warrant.

The Company is organized in the interest of economy in the production and sale of school books and it will employ its capital, its combined labor and experience to produce books of the highest quality at the least cost, and will offer them at the lowest price at which similar books can be sold in any country. It will pursue an open, direct, business policy toward competitors, customers, and authors. It seeks no monopoly and invites an open and honorable competition, with respect both to quality and to price of books for use in schools.

The publications assumed by the Company have hitherto received a large share of public patronage. The Company hopes to merit a continuance of the same.

Arcana Cœlestia: the Heavenly Arcana contained in the Holy Scriptures or Word of the Lord unfolded; together with Wonderful Things which have been seen in the World of Spirits and in the Heaven of Angels. Ten volumes. Price, 60 cts. per vol.; postage included, 78 cents.

The first volume of this work was originally published in 1749, and the last in 1756. It is an exposition of the internal or spiritual sense, according to the law of correspondences, of the books of Genesis and Exodus. It unfolds the spiritual significance of the creation and fall of man; of the deluge, and of the saving of Noah's family in the ark; of the lives of the patriarchs and their children; of the captivity of the chosen people in Egypt, their deliverance therefrom, their wandering in the wilderness, and the miracles performed in their behalf; of the ritual of the Jewish religion, its sacrifices and observances;—and in general, traces the foreshadowing, through both books, of the incarnation and glorification of the Lord Jesus Christ. Many passages from other parts of the Word are also fully explained.

At the close of each chapter interesting relations of things heard and seen in the spiritual world are added, explaining the process of dying, the resurrection of man, and his entrance into eternal life; the nature and life of the soul, of heaven and heavenly joy, and of hell, its nature and its miseries; spheres in the other life; of the light and heat in which the angels live, and their paradisiacal scenery; of visions and dreams, including the prophetical ones recorded in the Word; of the Last Judgment; of memory in the other life; of the condition of the Mohammedans and heathen in the other world; of man's freedom; representations and correspondences; the Grand Man, or the whole angelic heaven, and the correspondences of the different societies therein with the different organs and senses of the human body; the origin and correspondence of diseases; the spirits and inhabitants of the various planets, and of other earths in the starry heavens.

The doctrine of a spiritual sense in the Scriptures was universally held in the Christian church until the Protestant Reformation. It has never been discarded by the Catholic or Greek churches, and has continued to be held by many in Protestant churches. It was given to Swedenborg to make known the law of correspondence, which defines the precise relation of the spiritual sense to the sense of the letter, and furnishes an exact logical basis for the spiritual meaning of Scripture.

Heaven and its Wonders, the World of Spirits, and Hell: from things heard and seen (Commonly called "Heaven and Hell"). pp. 377. Price, 50 cts.; postage included, 65 cts.

This work was first published in 1758, and is a fuller exposition of many subjects touched upon in the former work. It unfolds the laws of the spiritual world, describes the condition of both good and evil spirits, and exhibits the general arrangement of the inhabitants of both heaven and hell, and the scenery by which they are surrounded. It treats, among other things, of the form of heaven, in general and in particular, of the innumerable societies of which the whole heaven consists, and of the correspondence between the things of heaven and those of earth; of the Sun of heaven, and the light and heat proceeding therefrom; of representative appearances in heaven, and of the changes of state experienced by the angels; of their garments and habitations, their language and writings, their innocence and wisdom, their government, worship, and state of peace; of the origin of the angelic heaven, and its conjunction with the human race by means of the Word; of the state of the heathen and young children, of the rich and poor, and of the wise and simple, in heaven; of the occupations of the angels; of heavenly joy and happiness; and of the immensity of heaven. It also treats of the World of Spirits, or first state of man after death, and the successive changes that he subsequently passes through; of the nature of Hell, and the true meaning of the "devil," "satan," "hell-fire," and the "gnashing of teeth;" of the appearance, situation, and plurality of the hells; and of the dreadful wickedness and direful arts of infernal spirits;—presenting altogether a rational and complete system of Pneumatology, and one in perfect harmony with the teachings of Holy Scripture.

Swedenborg's doctrine of Heaven and Hell is not a fanciful but an eminently practical doctrine. It makes heaven and hell a matter of every day life. We are living here and now either the heavenly life or the infernal life; and the life we are living here and thereby making our life, we shall continue to live when the body is laid aside. And all that constitutes heaven and hell in the spiritual world, apart from individual life, is simply the legitimate outcome of heavenly or infernal character, or its phenomenal manifestation.

Miscellaneous Theological Works. One vol.; pp. 526. Price, 60 cts.; postage included, 77 cts.

This volume contains the six small treatises that Swedenborg published:—

1. The New Jerusalem and its Heavenly Doctrine.
2. The "White Horse" mentioned in the Apocalypse; with Appendix.
3. The Earths in the Universe.
4. The Last Judgment; with Continuation.
5. Brief Exposition of the Doctrines of the New Church.
6. Nature of the Intercourse between the Soul and the Body.

The first four were originally published in 1758, and, like Heaven and Hell, are taken largely from the Arcana Coelestia. The doctrines are restated and elaborated, with copious references to the Arcana. The first treatise is a summary statement of the leading doctrines or principles of the New Church. The second unfolds the spiritual meaning of the "White Horse" mentioned in the Apocalypse, with especial reference to the doctrine of the Lord's Second Coming. The third describes the appearance, character, and mode of life of the inhabitants of other earths than this, information which Swedenborg gained in the spiritual world from spirits from those earths which he was permitted to meet, that the multiplicity and variety of the human race might be made known. The fourth describes the "Last Judgment," which was effected in the spiritual world in 1757, as a part of the Lord's Second Coming, and the beginning of the new dispensation, which is predicted in the Apocalypse as "the New Jerusalem."

The other two treatises were published in 1769. The first is a discussion of twenty-five doctrinal points, comparing the Old and New theology. It is a kind of outline of the author's last great work, the True Christian Religion. The other treatise is a discussion of the doctrine of Influx, or the relation of the spiritual to the physical. It is a compendious statement of Swedenborg's philosophy, and is supposed to have been written in answer to a letter to him from Emanual Kant.

Swedenborg teaches that all judgment is a spiritual work, and the theatre of all general judgments prophesied or described in Scripture is the spiritual world, not the natural world. The Lord, while in the world, said, "Now is the judgment of this world;" but there was no visible judgment in the natural world at that time. A similar judgment in the spiritual world in the middle of the last century prepared the way for the Lord's spiritual descent into the minds of men, and the establishment of a new spiritual dispensation on the earth.

The Four Leading Doctrines of the New Church. pp. 247. Price, 50 cts.; postage included, 60 cts.

Under this title the following four small doctrinal works, published by Swedenborg in 1763. are included:—

1. The Doctrine of the Lord.
2. The Doctrine of the Sacred Scripture.
3. The Doctrine of Faith.
4. The Doctrine of Life.

Also, Answers to Nine Questions, chiefly relating to the Lord, the Holy Trinity, and the Holy Spirit.

The Doctrine of the Lord is a careful analysis of the teachings of Scripture respecting Jesus Christ, to show in what sense He is "the Word made flesh," and "God with us," also respecting the purpose of His coming into the world, which was the uniting of the Human to the Divine, and at the same time the Redemption of mankind from the power of the hells. The doctrine of the Trinity is also explained.

The Doctrine of the Sacred Scriptures unfolds the doctrine of the spiritual sense in its relation to the literal sense; the way in which doctrine is to be deduced from Scripture, and the way in which erroneous doctrines have been deduced from it; the function of Sacred Scripture as a means of conjunction between heaven and the minds of men on the earth, and its influence on those who are ignorant of it.

The Doctrine of Faith shows what the constituents of true faith are as contrasted with the fatal heresy of "faith alone," which is a faith separate from charity.

The Doctrine of Life is a careful analysis of the relation of morals or good conduct to spiritual life. It also contains an exposition of the spiritual sense of the ten commandments.

These four treatises are perhaps the most important of Swedenborg's purely doctrinal works. They expound the four essential points of Christian doctrine, The nature of God, His revelation of Himself in Scripture, and what constitutes true faith and the spiritual life of man.

Angelic Wisdom concerning the Divine Love and the Divine Wisdom. pp. 254. Price, 50 cts.; postage included, 60 cts.

This work, which was originally published in 1763, treats of the operation of the Divine Love and the Divine Wisdom in the creation of the universe, including man as the chief end of creation. It explains the trinal distinction that exists in all created things from the trinity in God, and shows how this trinity is manifested in men and angels, who are images of the Divine. It unfolds also the doctrine of Degrees, and explains the three discrete degrees of the human mind, showing when and by what means those are opened, and what is effected by their opening. It also explains the origin of evil uses, and the origin, design, and tendency of good uses.

This work sets forth very fully and clearly the philosophy on which the doctrines of Swedenborg rest; and is a work that no student of philosophy can afford to overlook.

Angelic Wisdom concerning the Divine Providence. pp. 320. Price, 50 cts.; postage included, 63 cts.

This work, which was originally published in 1764, treats of the nature and operations of Divine Providence, and unfolds the laws of order according to which God's moral government is regulated. It shows that His end in the creation of the world was a heaven of angels from the human race; that the Divine Providence works not at random, but according to certain invariable LAWS which are here disclosed; that it is universal, extending to the least things as well as to the greatest; that in all it does it has respect to what is eternal with man, and to things temporary only for the sake of what is eternal; that the laws of permission are also among the laws of Divine providence; that evils are permitted for the sake of the end, which is salvation; that the Divine Providence is equally with the wicked and the good; that every man may be reformed, and that there is no such thing as predestination; that the Lord cannot act against the laws of His Providence, because to act against them would be to act against His Divine Love and His Divine Wisdom, consequently against Himself.

Apocalypse Revealed, wherein are disclosed the Arcana there foretold, which have hitherto remained concealed. Two vols. Price, 60 cts. per vol.; postage included, 75 cts. The same, the two volumes in one, 90 cts., postage included.

This work, which was originally published in 1766, unfolds the spiritual meaning of the Book of Revelation. It shows that by the "Seven Churches in Asia," to whom this prophecy is said to be addressed, are meant the different classes of Christians of the present day; that the Last Judgment is not an event that is to occur at some future time in the physical world, but one that has already taken place in the world of spirits; and that "the New Jerusalem coming down like a bride out of heaven," symbolizes a New Dispensation of truth now descending into the minds of men. Incidentally, also, it explains numerous passages from other parts of the Word. Instructive narratives of things seen in the spiritual world are also interspersed between the chapters.

Conjugial Love. The Delights of Wisdom pertaining to Conjugial Love: to which is added, The Pleasures of Insanity pertaining to Scortatory Love. By Emanuel Swedenborg, a Swede. pp. 434. Price 60 cts.; postage included, 75 cts.

This work, which was originally published in 1768, when Swedenborg was eighty years of age, and which was the first of the author's theological works on the title of which his name appeared, treats of the spiritual relations of the sexes, and their differences; of the indissoluble nature of true marriage; of the nature and origin of love truly conjugial; of the marriage of the Lord and the Church, and its correspondence; of the spiritual conjunction of marriage partners in true marriage, so that they are no longer two, but one flesh; of the change of the state of life with both sexes by marriage; of the causes of disaffection, separations, and divorces in marriage; of the causes of apparent love, friendship, and favor in marriage; and of iterated marriages. To which is appended a treatise on Adulterous or Scortatory Love in its various degrees, showing it to be in its nature the very opposite of Conjugial Love—as opposite as hell is to heaven.

The True Christian Religion; containing the Universal Theology of the New Church, foretold by the Lord in the Apocalypse (xxi. 1, 2). With the Coronis, and a copious Index. pp. 1000. Price, $1.00; postage included, $1.30.

This last work of the author was originally published in 1771. It is a detailed exposition of the main doctrines of the New Church. The nature and scope of the work will be seen from the titles of the chapters.

I. God the Creator.
II. The Lord the Redeemer.
III. The Holy Spirit and the Divine Operation (treating also of the Divine Trinity).
IV. The Sacred Scripture or Word of the Lord.
V. The Decalogue explained as to its external and internal sense.
VI. Faith.
VII. Charity and Good Works.
VIII. Free Will.
IX. Repentance.
X. Reformation and Regeneration.
XI. Imputation.
XII. Baptism.
XIII. The Holy Supper.
XIV. The Consummation of the Age; the Second Coming of the Lord; the new Heaven and the New Church.

There are, also, relations of things seen and heard in the spiritual world interspersed between the chapters, and a supplement treating of that world.

This is Swedenborg's most important doctrinal work. It is his final statement of his system of doctrine, and covers the whole range of doctrine. Swedenborg was eighty-three years old when it was published, and he regarded it as his final work, and the doctrinal basis of the New Church. Much of the material of it was drawn from previous works, but all this was rewritten, and made a part of the complete treatment. Is is, as the title declares, "the whole theology of the New Church."

Apocalypse Explained, according to the spiritual sense, wherein the Arcana there predicted and hitherto hidden are revealed.

This, the largest of the author's theological works except the Arcana, was left unpublished at his death, although it had apparently been carefully prepared for publication. On the title page of Vol. I. is written "London, 1759," showing that the work was ready for the printer at that time. There is no indication why it was left unpublished. Except towards the end it is almost exclusively an exposition of the spiritual sense of Scripture. Not only is every phrase in the Apocalypse (as far as it goes) separately explained, but thousands of passages, gathered from all parts of the Word, are quoted and expounded. Towards the end extended doctrinal discussions are introduced, and the expositions close with the tenth verse of the nineteenth chapter.

A new translation of this work is now being made for the society, which will be issued in six octavo volumes. Price per volume, 60 cents. It will also be issued in twelve volumes with the Latin and English on alternate pages. Price per volume, in half leather binding, gilt top, $1.50. An elaborate Index to this work prepared by Dr. S. H. Worcester, with tables of Scriptures passages, and tables of the Hebrew and Greek equivalents of the Latin words in Swedenborg's translations of Scripture passages, has been published by the society in two large octavo volumes. Price per volume, $2.

Both for its exposition of passages of Scripture, and for its doctrinal statements, this is one of the most important and valuable of Swedenborg's works. It is especially valuable for its expositions of the Psalms, the Prophets and the Gospels. The exhaustive index and tables make its contents especially available to students of the spiritual sense of Scripture.

In the latter part of the work less space is given to the exposition of passages of Scripture, and explanation of doctrine are appended to each paragraph. These become more elaborate as the work goes on, until the expositions are wholly dropped, and the work closes with two doctrinal treatises, one on The Divine Love, the other on The Divine Wisdom. The doctrines discussed in this latter part of of the work are "Charity and Good Works," "Life," "The Athanasian Creed," "The Lord," "Divine Omnipotence," "Divine Providence," "The Life of Animals and Plants," "Divine Omnipresence and Omniscience."

The Divine Trinity, Divine Providence, and Related Subjects: by Emanuel Swedenborg. Extracted from the "Apocalypse Explained." pp. 207, 12mo.

This includes the greater portion of the doctrinal matter contained in the closing part of Apocalypse Explained. It is the clearest and most attractive treatment of the subjects it covers to be found in any of Swedenborg's works.

This work, in handsome paper cover, will be sent to any address, postpaid, for twenty cents, or seven copies for one dollar. Fifty copies, postage extra, five dollars. Also, bound in flexible cloth, thirty cents; in half leather, gilt edges, seventy-five cents.

"This is one of the best books we know to put into the hands of those who desire to get a general idea of the doctrines of the New Church in a small compass. It is written in a clear and attractive style, and is remarkably free from those peculiar forms of expression which are so distasteful and perplexing to many persons when they begin to read the writings of Swedenborg."—Rev. Chauncey Giles.

"The New Churchman can have by him no more useful work for devout reading; and its remarkably free and lucid style makes it peculiarly valuable for missionary circulation."—Rev. L. P. Mercer.

"One of the most interesting of Swedenborg's works for general reading. It contains a great part of the philosophy of the Divine Love and Wisdom, in a pleasant, descriptive form, which is simple and attractive as well as profound."—Rev. John Worcester.

"We hope that the friends of the New Church every where, will take advantage of the publication of the book in a cheap form to scatter it broadcast over the land."—New Church Messenger.

REPRINT OF THE ORIGINAL LATIN.

No careful student of Swedenborg can be satisfied with translations. But the original works are constantly becoming more costly and more difficult to obtain; while some of the reprints are scarce, and others too imperfect to be of any permanent value. There is therefore a pressing need for an accurate reproduction of these works, in the language in which they were written. But it is too expensive an enterprise to be carried forward, except with the hearty co-operation of the whole Church. The society has taken up the work with the hope and expectation that if it were seen to be well done, the co-operation of the Church might be secured. It will continue this undertaking as fast as the sales will justify. It is a work of great importance to the Church; and should be speedily completed. The works, as published, ought to be placed in the larger college and public libraries; and as all that is received for sales is devoted to the continuance of this undertaking, purchases for this purpose serve a double use. This deserves the special attention of all who have money to give to Church uses.

Eleven volumes have thus far been published. They are printed on fine laid paper and handsomely bound in half leather. Price, $2.50 per volume. Sheets, stitched, unbound, $2.00 per volume.

Have now ready the new (11th) Volume of the Book-Lovers' Library.

NEWSPAPER REPORTING

IN OLDEN TIME AND TO-DAY.—By John PENDLETON. 12mo, Cloth, uncut edges, $1.25.

This new volume of the "Book-Lovers' Library," on "Newspaper Reporting in Olden Time and To-Day," indicates the growth of newspaper enterprise and gives an account of the birth and development of short-hand, illustrating its utility in journalism in the past and present; but it deals chiefly with the reporter—with his journalistic life and work from the earliest times. This volume should be specially attractive to the book-lover, for it contains many references to ancient MSS.—to the literature of the past, to literary effort long before the time of the daily newspaper, and mentions the men who have been eminent in these departments of literature.

INSTITUTES OF THE CHRISTIAN RELIGION.

READY IN SEPTEMBER.

BY PROF. EML. V. GERHART, D.D., LL.D. 1st Volume, Octavo (about 600 pages), Cloth, $2.50.

In response to many suggestions, I have had in course of preparation for a series of years a work on systematic theology, which is to embrace all branches of Christian Doctrine, and to be completed in two volumes. Price of each volume, $2.50.

The central truth of the Institutes is the divine-human personality of Jesus Christ; my aim being to construct all doctrines, not from God's sovereign will, nor from the freedom of man as the point of observation, but from the vital union of both, as realized in the life and work of the Mediator.

These volumes are the product of my studies pursued during the twenty-five years I have been occupying the chair of systematic theology in Theological Seminaries of the Reformed Church; four years at Tiffin, Ohio; three years at Mercersburg, Pa.; and eighteen years at Lancaster.

The work is adapted to the needs of thoughtful laymen of all denominations, no less than to students of theology and ministers of the Gospel.

Nearly Ready. A New and (3d) Revised Edition of

SYSTEM OF CHRISTIAN THEOLOGY.

(PRICE REDUCED FROM $3.50 to $2.00.)

By HENRY B. SMITH, D.D., LL.D. Edited by Prof. Wm. S. Karr, with a new Scriptural Index and a full Introduction by Thomas S. Hastings, D.D., President of Union Theological Seminary; and a revision of the foot-notes by Rev. H. G. Smith. Octavo, Cloth, $2.00.

This new edition of Prof. Smith's Theology will be prefaced by an Introduction by his pupil and life-long friend, the Rev. Dr. Thomas S. Hastings, President of Union Theological Seminary. The Rev. H. Goodwin Smith has kindly undertaken a revision of the foot-notes, the correction of some typographical errors in the earlier editions, and the preparation of a Scriptural Index, not in former editions.

By a special arrangement with Dr. Smith's family, this new edition will be issued at the very low price of $2.00.

A. C. Armstrong and Son's New Publications.

History of Art in Sardinia, Judea, Syria and Asia Minor.

BY GEORGES PERROT AND CHARLES CHIPIEZ.

Edited by W. Armstrong, B. A., Oxon., with about 400 illustrations. Two vols., imperial 8vo, uniform with "History of Art in Ancient Egypt," "History of Art in Chaldea and Assyria," "History of Art in Phœnicia," etc. Handsomely bound in cloth, $14.50; half levant morocco, $22.50.

This New Work is the fourth in the Series by these distinguished writers on the "History of Ancient Art," the three previous works having achieved remarkable success and being accepted by the Highest Authorities as the Standard Works on the Subjects.

This great history is, in many respects, the most important contribution of modern times to the literature of art and archæology. As it progresses, its value becomes more and more apparent. The illustrations are admirable as illustrative art, and abundant to bring the descriptive text within the comprehension of the ordinary reader, as well as the student. The value of these works to every reader of history, whether of mankind or of what man has produced, consists in the fact that we have here from a scholar of the first rank (and none holds higher rank than Perrot) the results, in digested form, of the extensive contributions of knowledge made by Layard, Rawlinson, Loftus, George Smith, Lenormant, Maspero, Oppert and a host of other distinguished laborers in the field.

STUDIES IN LITERATURE AND STYLE.

By T. W. Hunt, Ph.D., Professor of Rhetoric and English Language in Princeton College, New Jersey. 12mo. Cloth, $1.00, net.

The New York Nation says: "We have had occasion previously to remark upon Prof. Hunt's excellent writings in the department of rhetoric, in which he deals with advanced subjects, with unusual breadth of view and freedom from the stiff pedagogy which generally monopolizes the manuals of instruction on style. The present volume is a continuation of his former studies, and is characterized by similar system in statement and absence of technicality. His criticism of Arnold and Emerson's style is both clear and just."

"A splendid book, full of a warm, sympathetic appreciation of a young man's trials. Every page of it is worth reading. It never descends to mere commonplace platitude, and often rises to a glowing eloquence that can hardly be read without producing some practical effect on the life of the reader."—Church Bells.

ERMON BIBLE.—This Series will give in convenient form the essence of the best homiletic literature of this generation. As yet the preacher desirous of knowing the best that has been said on a text has had nothing to turn to but a very meager and inadequate Homiletical Index. In this he is often referred to obsolete or second-rate works, while he misses references to the best sources. The new SERMON BIBLE will take account of the best and greatest preachers, and will be compiled from manuscript reports and fugitive periodical sources as well as from books. Many of the best sermons preached by eminent men are never printed in book form. It will thus contain much that will be new to its readers.

Under every text will be given:—

Outlines of important sermons by eminent preachers existing only in manuscript or periodicals, and thus inaccessible.

Less full outlines of sermons which have appeared in volumes which are not well known or easily obtained.

References to or very brief outlines of sermons which appear in popular volumes such as are likely to be in a preacher's library.

Full references to theological treatises, commentaries, etc., where any help is given to the elucidation of the text.

The Series will be under the general supervision of the Editor of the "Clerical Library," who will be assisted by specialists in each department.

It will extend to 12 vols., consisting of about 400 pages, price $1.50 each, embracing the whole of the Sacred Scriptures, and will be published at the rate of at least two vols. a year. Full circular on application.

SUPLEE, Head Master of St. Augustine's College. Trench "On the Study of Words," originally in the shape of lectures, and retaining that form in publication, was but poorly adapted for use in the school-room as a text-book. THE UNKNOWN GOD;

Or, Inspiration Among Pre-Christian Races.

By C. LORING BRACE, Author of "Gesta Christi," etc.

Octavo, cloth, gilt top, $2.50.

The progress of thought has brought reflecting persons everywhere more and more to look at heathen religions from within rather than as critical spectators from without. The effort of scholars in this age is to interpret human beliefs through their sympathy with those who held them, and from their knowledge of distant times, rather than to contrast them with more perfect religions, or to show their weakness. Christian thinkers who believe in a Divine Inspiration among all peoples of every age may well feel it a worthy object to trace the action of the Divine Spirit through the centuries among distant races and countries.

The object of this book, which takes its title from St. Paul's sermon at Athens, is to show that the UNKNOWN GOD has been worshipped and devoutly followed by people of distant ages long previous to Christianity, or by those of later periods who knew nothing of the Christian Revelation.

Chapter I. treats of Monotheism among the ancient Egyptians, proved by innumerable inscriptions and papyri and "The Book of the Dead." Chapter II., of the relations of the Egyptians to the Jews. Chapter III. of an ancient Semitic people of the Euphrates valley—the Accadians—whose penitential psalms show a high sense of pure Religion.

The book now passes over to Aryan races, and treats of the Monotheism in the doctrines of the Greek Mysteries or religious associations of the early Greeks, and of the worship of the spiritual Zeus among the early poets and the later dramatists of Greece.

The Religion of Plato and Socrates is also examined, and then the Faith of the Stoics—whose system is regarded by the writer more as a religion than a system of morals.

Among Oriental religions, Zoroasteranism, Hinduism, and Buddhism are investigated for traces of pure Religion.

Buddha is regarded by the author as inspired to a certain degree, and an instrument in the hands of Providence to unify Eastern Asia, remove social evils, and strengthen human compassion and unselfishness, thus preparing the way for Christianity.

The final chapters are upon the Bible argument for the inspiration of the heathen, which the author rests especially on the words of St. Paul. The best Missionary methods among the heathen also are discussed. The model for the latter the author especially finds in St. Paul's sermon on Mars Hill; that is, the argument from the truths admitted by both heathen and Christian.

New Illustrated Works on Japan and Asia.

THE INDUSTRIES OF JAPAN.

Together with an Account of its Agriculture, Mining, Forestry, Arts, and Commerce. From travels and researches undertaken at the cost of the Prussian Government. By Professor J. J. REIN, University of Bonn. Illustrated by Engravings, Lithographs, and Native Fabrics, many of them full-page Engravings, some beautifully colored, and Maps. Royal octavo, cloth, gilt top, $10.

"Dr. Rein writes about the industries of Japan with scientific accuracy and characteristic thoroughness; in fact, we know of no work, out of the scores which have been written on the social and industrial condition of the 'Land of the Rising Sun,' WHICH SO FAR AS LEARNING AND PRACTICAL UTILITY ARE CONCERNED, IS WORTHY OF COMPARISON WITH THIS MASTERLY SURVEY."

"It is the ripened fruit of over fifteen years' observation and study in Japan and Europe. . . . Life-long culture and equipment in the sciences enabled him to see vastly more than the average traveler. . . . With fidelity to truth even in matters apparently trivial, and with notable literary skill, he has produced a book which is as readable as it is informing. No other work begins to cover the ground with such a circumference of treatment. This portly octavo is a handbook and encyclopædia in one."—Boston Literary World.

"One has here an Encyclopædia of Information, and a handbook of reference every page of which is readable. We can conscientiously commend the book as the first on the subject, with no second or third in sight."—Christian Union.

"Readers of Dr. Rein's first volume on Japan will naturally expect to find in the present part, which is published as a separate work, the same painstaking thoroughness which characterized the earlier issue, and they will not be disappointed. In no work has any approach been made to the completeness and detailed minuteness which mark the volume before us."
—London Saturday Review.

"The work itself deserves the highest praise, and Rein's 'Japan' and William's 'Middle Kingdom' may stand on the same shelf, each an unmatched authority upon the country of which it treats."
—New York Independent.

"It is in the first place lucidly and unpretentiously written in a style refreshingly free from the jargon and exaggeration so many writers fall into who make Japan their theme. . . . The various divisions of the subject are handled with a fullness of knowledge that leaves little room for criticism; the language is throughout that of a man of science accustomed to understand and weigh evidence, and the Prussian Government may be congratulated on an expenditure which has produced by far the best book that has been written on modern Japan."—London Athenæum.

"A magnificent achievement, a shining example of patience, learning, and fine literary form. The book stands out as easily first in its special field as Fuji rises among the lesser mountains of the Japanese Islands. Indeed, in one of the manifold senses of the name of the sacred peak, this book of Prof. Rein's is Fuji; for it is peerless, and there are 'no two such.'"
—New York Critic.

ALSO JUST READY (SECOND EDITION), BY SAME AUTHOR.

JAPAN: TRAVELS AND RESEARCHES.

Undertaken at the cost of the Prussian Government. With Illustrations (many full-page) and Maps. Royal octavo, cloth, gilt top, $7.50.

New York Nation: "Those who have waited for the very best general work on Japan have now the opportunity of purchasing their full money's worth. Gathering the best of all previous scholarship and research on the subject, the author has added his own valuable contributions. . . . The text before us is more than a translation; it is a revision of the original work, and hence an improvement upon it. Every line has passed under the eye of the author. We commend the work as the best general handbook of Japan, and the most complete yet presented to the English reading public."

Through the Heart of Asia—Over the Pamïr to India.

By GABRIEL BONVALOT. With 250 Illustrations (many of them full-page engravings) by ALBERT PEPIN. Translated from the French by C. B. PITMAN. 2 vols., imp. 8vo, cloth, $10.50.

The London Spectator says: "The pages are illustrated by hundreds of engravings, many being good and helpful to the letterpress. The volumes, written throughout with French brightness, ARE A VALUABLE CONTRIBUTION TO OUR KNOWLEDGE OF CENTRAL ASIA."

N. Y. Herald: "Readable words of travel in Central Asia are scarce, and most of them of recent date are by strong partisans of Russia or England. M. Bonvalot is a studious Frenchman, who, impressed by the glorious past of Central Asia, went into the country 'to make a careful examination of the land and its inhabitants, and to shed as much light as possible upon its history with the torch of geography.' The trip was made in winter—a feat never before attempted by a European. It was attended by great difficulties, delays, and dangers, but it was successful, and on the other side of the 'roof of the world' the traveler found 'among the mountains the drift of the great shipwreck of the races which inhabited them in antiquity.'"

Mrs. Rorer's Cook Book

A Manual of Home Economies. By MRS. S. T. RORER, Principal of the Philadelphia Cooking School, Author of Hot Weather Dishes, Canning and Preserving, etc.

Mrs. S. T. Rorer, for many years a teacher of cooking in Philadelphia, presents the results of her practical experience and study in the laboratory, the cooking-class and the household. In simple language, the rationale of each class of recipes, soup, fish, cake, etc., is given in an introduction to each subject, 57 in all, and this is followed by the recipes proper, fully indexed, all tested in the class-room and in table use.

Nearly all cook books assume some knowledge and experience in those who use them, but in Mrs. Rorer's Cook Books by definite direction as to quantities and extreme precision, accuracy and detail in describing the manipulation necessary, a manual of complete cookery is presented which will be found intelligible to the early beginner. Throughout the work, as well as in a chapter devoted to the subject, will be found hints and directions for the economical use of food, a matter too often neglected.

"Nothing hinders the sale of cook books like uncertainty as to whether they are made all through of tried and approved recipes. An old recipe is just as good as a new one—not all good dishes are new. But what is intolerable is to find by trying half a dozen, that two or three are good and that the rest of them waste your time and materials. There's the price of your book thrown away over and over again.

Mrs. Rorer's book is a big one with nothing in it but what her pupils have tested in actual cooking under her own supervision. That, apart from the author's celebrity, gives the book its welcome where the fact is known.

12mo, with portrait of the author, and elaborate index; washable oil-cloth cover, $1.75

Canning and Preserving

By Mrs. S. T. Rorer, Author of Mrs. Rorer's Cook Book, Hot Weather Dishes, etc.

In this volume Mrs. Rorer discusses at greater length than is allowed in the limits of her work on cooking in general, the canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables, with the kindred subjects of marmalades, butters, fruit jellies and syrups, drying and pickling. As in her Cook Book, the recipes are clearly and stmply given, while an exhaustive index affords easy reference to every subject.

Home Candy Making

By Mrs. S. T. Rorer, Author of Mrs. Rorer's Cook Book, Canning and Preserving, Hot Weather Dishes, etc.

This valuable work is the result of careful practice in teaching beginners how to make attractive, wholesome and palatable varieties of home-made candies. As a rule, these are made from uncooked sugar and white of egg, and while they may be palatable to some persons, to the connoisseur they are coarse and heavy. The excellency of the recipes consists in their simplicity and faithfulness to minutiæ.

Hot Weather Dishes

By Mrs. S. T. Rorer, Author of Mrs. Rorer's Cook Book, Canning and Preserving, etc.

Its name tells the whole story. It is the only book of the kind. Hot weather seems to suspend the inventive faculty of even the best housekeepers and at a season when the appetite needs every help and encouragement this book will be found of the greatest use. Full of suggestions for tempting and dainty dishes, with recipes for presenting the substantials in palatable forms. Contains a complete index to all the recipes.

The Ethics of George Eliot's Works

By the late John Crombie Brown, with an introduction by Charles Gordon Ames, author of "George Eliot's Two Marriages."

It was of this book that George Eliot wrote with reference to certain passages: "They seemed to me more penetrating and finely felt than almost anything I have read in the way of printed comments on my own writings." And, in a letter to a friend of the author, she writes: "When I read the volume in the summer, I felt as if I had been deprived of something that should have fallen to my share in never having made his personal acquaintance. And it would have been a great benefit, —a great stimulus to me,—to have known some years earlier that my work was being sanctioned by the sympathy of a mind endowed with so much insight and delicate sensibility. It is difficult for me to speak of what others may regard as an excessive estimate of my own work, but I will venture to mention the keen perception shown in the note on page 29, as something that gave me peculiar satisfaction." No higher opinion is needed to make all interested in the works of George Eliot desire to read this volume.

George Eliot's Two Marriages

An Essay by CHARLES GORDON AMES. Sixth edition, revised.

This essay, read before the women's New Century Club of Philadelphia, was printed in cheap form, and passed through three editions, which were sold without being advertised. A venerable clergyman and eminent scholar, whose praise is in all the churches of America, calls it "the ablest, wisest and best article that has yet been written about George Eliot"; and adds, "It is worth much to have her so defended that moral sentiment shall not be thereby outraged or impugned." A Philadelphia divine—a leader among leaders in a large denomination—calls it "a brave, candid, discriminating and, on the whole, satisfactory view of a very difficult and embarrassing subject."

To meet the continued demand, a sixth edition, in new and handsome form, has just been published.

12mo, wide margins, uncut; paper cover, 20 cents

Stops, or How to Punctuate

A Practical Handbook for Writers and Students. By PAUL ALLARDYCE. Fourth Edition.

—"'Stops; or, How to Punctuate,' by Paul Allardyce, is an admirable little book of the kind. It is exact without being finical, and brief without being too compact to include excellent illustrations of its meaning. Best of all, it elucidates the fact that punctuation is a factor of literary style, the question of period or comma not being always one of sense, but sometimes one of taste. The book contains directions for correcting proof."—The Critic.

—"It is a clever little book giving useful information in the art of punctuation, not dogmatically but so one gets the reason for using or not using the various stops. The book is beautifully printed."—Buffalo News.

—"Trustworthy hand-book on the elements of punctuation."—Baltimore Sun.

—"A bright little hand-book. Its rules are very clear, and most aptly illustrated."—Rochester Morning Herald.

—"A valuable little book presented in handsome typography. Writers and Students will derive instruction from its pages."—Norristown Herald.

—"The rules given strike us as reasonable, and, if followed, likely to put some check upon intemperance in punctuation."—Atlantic Monthly.

—"The book lays down the rules and furnishes examples in a clear and concise manner, so that he who runs may read. The size is convenient, and every student should have it at his elbow, as handy as his dictionary."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

—"Its clear and practical directions should be very helpful. It is printed in a style which represents very creditably the book-making art."—Boston Journal.

Evolution and Religion

from the Standpoint of one who Believes in Both. A Lecture by MINOT J. SAVAGE, Church of the Unity, Boston. Delivered in the Philadelphia Academy of Music. Second edition.

The famous Dr. Talmage, speaking in the "Star Course" of Philadelphia, both raised a laugh and a protest by his utterance on "The Absurdities of Evolution." An invitation to reply was extended to the Rev. Mr. Savage, the radical Unitarian of Boston, and well known as a courageous champion of Spencer's philosophy and Darwin's theory, while he is also a devout theist. The handsome pamphlet of 52 pages which contains his address is a notable addition to the literature of recent discussion, not so much from any novelty in its ideas, as from the extraordinary clearness and vigor of their putting. Mr. Savage seems not to use his opportunity chiefly for the vindication of Evolution, which he claims has passed beyond the need of defence, but to exhibit what he considers the absurdity of its theological opponents. He charges the prevalence of nominal unbelief upon the real unbelief of the Church, which averts its face from new light and insists on the infallibility and divine origin of traditions which the Creator himself contradicts by the revelation contained in His works. It is not surprising that a lecture so breezy as this should have started a ripple on the quiet surface of Philadelphia life and set ministers and people a-talking. It contains many sentences that would shake a sleepy man into wide-awakeness, and make a thoughtful man more thoughtful, whether in agreement or disagreement.

Theology of Evolution

A Lecture by E. D. COPE, A. M., Ph. D.

The high standing of Professor Cope as a scientific student and thinker, sufficiently recommends whatever he may write to inquirers in the same field. This lecture possesses a peculiar value in that, while presenting some of the most important results of his mature thought, it was written for a popular audience, and, therefore, as far as possible, is adapted, in style, to the comprehension of others than students.

It is mainly a profound effort to demonstrate by scientific considerations the existence of Mind as a principle distinct from (though closely related to) Matter; and thus the existence of a Supreme Mind, and the possibility of immortality. The steps of the logical process are taken with masterly skill, and the argument is vivid and luminous. The particular observation by which the presence and action of Mind in the human economy is demonstrated is most acute and suggestive. On the whole, we think no previous scientific argument for Spirit (or, as Prof. Cope prefers to say, Mind), of equal cogency and value with this. While it must still, as the author intimates, be carried much further, he certainly has a right to call it a definite step towards that which to religious thinkers generally has seemed impracticable—"by searching to find out God."

Incidentally other questions of great moment are suggestively considered, or alluded to—the existence of evil, the problem of liberty a necessity, the evolution of morals, etc. Altogether, the lecture—in which are condensed the materials for a volume—affords food for the deepest thinking, and opens, not unhelpfully, many important lines of study and reflection. In the present state of thought on religious and scientific topics, it has great value for every thoughtful reader.

CRANE—VIRGIL'S ÆNEID. Translated literally, line by line, into English Dactylic Hexameter, by Rev. OLIVER CRANE, D. D. 4to, cloth 1 75

This translation is probably the closest reproduction of the original extant in any language. It retains the metre, and, with remarkable smoothness and aptness of language, gives the English of the great poem in the same number of lines, and almost in the same number of syllables, as the epic itself.

DEUTSCH—LETTERS FOR SELF-INSTRUCTION IN THE GERMAN LANGUAGE. By SOLOMON DEUTSCH, Ph. D., Author of the "Drillmaster in German," Etc. 2 volumes, 8vo, cloth, $5.00. Each volume also sold separately. Volume I.—First Course, Grammatical, 8vo, cloth, 480 pp., $2.50. Volume II.—Second Course, Idiomatic and Literary, 8vo, cloth, 364 pp..... 2 50

This is an elaborate work which perfectly accomplishes the task of making it possible for an English student, entirely without other aid, to master every detail of the pronunciation, grammar, and idioms of the German language, and at the same time to become familiar with its conversational forms, its proverbs, and classical sayings.

MR. CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER fitly characterized the book when he said of it, "The method is scientific, but is perfectly intelligible. The author is thorough; in order to be easy he cannot be brief; he explains carefully."

DEUTSCH—DRILLMASTER IN GERMAN. Based on Systematic Gradation and Steady Repetition. By SOLOMON DEUTSCH, A. M., Ph. D. Author of "Letters for Self-Instruction in German," &c. 12mo, cloth, 469 pp..... 1 75

The subject-matter of the book is divided into twenty-four sections, consisting of numbered paragraphs containing German sentences on the left page, and the exact idiomatic English equivalent on the right page. Each of these sections of 50 paragraphs is followed by the same number of paragraphs in English, containing Drill Exercises for Oral and Written Review. In these no new terms are employed, but merely modifications and variations of the sentences already given, and these have been selected with a view to practical usefulness. The grammatical rules deduced from the model sentences which form the bulk of the book appear in copious foot-notes and in the appendix. The latter also contains synoptical tables, giving a general view of the inflections, and an alphabetical list of the prepositions, with their idiomatic use. An Index, alphabetically arranged, directs the student at once to the resources of the book on any given point.

"I have examined your German 'Letters,' and, as I expected, have found them full of learning and industry, and calculated to be of great value to any one who will study them with faithful care. I shall recommend your book whenever opportunity offers."—Prof. W. D. Whitney, of Yale College.

"Your 'Letters' are marvels of compactness and accuracy, and I cannot imagine a better training for one who will by himself master our beloved German."—Dr. Franklin Carter, President of Williams College.

DIVORCE ABOLISHED. 12mo, cloth..... 25

This book treats, in a striking and original way, and with great strength and delicacy, the principal causes of marital unhappiness; advancing helpful suggestions of such practical and common-sense character that their adoption would not only abolish divorce, but to a great extent the unfortunate relations which exist between many who, though unhappy, do not seek a legal separation. It is a splendid tribute to true womanhood.

FAC-SIMILE REPRINTS of Walton's "Compleat Angler," Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," and Herbert's "Temple." Being reproductions of the First Editions of these books. Each 16mo; antique binding, with Renaissance design, gilt top, $1.25; imitation paneled calf..... 1 25

"These immortal works are here presented, as nearly as possible, in the precise form in which they were first issued."—The Literary World, London, England.

"Two little books sure to be sought after are the fac-similes of George Herbert's 'Temple,' and of Walton's 'Compleat Angler.' The quaint embossed binding in brown and white patterns at once distinguishes these books as antique."—N. Y. Evening Post.

"The little book is worth its weight in gold."—N. Y. Observer.

"We have seldom read a professedly religious book so thoroughly free from dogmatism, so sympathetic in its tone, and so wholesome in its spirit of wide and truly Christian charity, or one in which the author so evidently wrote from the fulness of the heart. Considered merely as a literary production, Madame de Gasparin's work is equally deserving of praise. There is about it an amount of care and of finish which are not amongst the least proofs of the writer's earnestness and sincerity."—Glasgow Herald.

These lists, without dates, can be commenced at any time, and used until full, and are particularly useful to young physicians unable to estimate the number of patients they may have during the first years of Practice, and to physicians in localities where epidemics occur frequently. In the Monthly Edition the patient's name has to be entered but once each month.

Balzac (Honore De)--Cesar Birotteau.

Translated from the French. With fourteen choice illustrations by Harry C. Edwards. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound in Cloth, $1.00.

The novels of Honoré de Balzac are among the greatest works of the kind that any country has produced. That they go deeper into the human heart, represent more truly human passion, and reflect with greater accuracy the multiform phases of human life than the works of any other novelist is claimed for him by some of the foremost critics of the world. César Birotteau is one of his most beautiful and characteristic novels.

Calhoun (Major Alfred R.)--Maud Morton.

Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

"Maud Morton, by Major Calhoun, is a novel of New York life which shows the accidents and vicissitudes which overtake unprotected childhood in a great city. The heroine is left an orphan waif in the streets. Her mother, overcome by sickness and poverty, and driven from her lodgings by a relentless landlord, dies on the gas-lighted pavements. The child is picked up by a young man and carried home to his mother, by whom she is carefully nurtured and brought up to womanhood. It is with the after career of the heroine that the story principally deals. She proves to be an heiress of great wealth, and the struggle which ensues for its possession, with powerful and unscrupulous enemies, makes one of the most thrilling and fascinating stories that was ever produced. Her manly and true-hearted lover, whose loyalty and devotion are rewarded by the purest womanly affection, is a worthy counterpart of a most lovely and charming heroine. It is altogether a story of unusual interest and power, and of our own day.

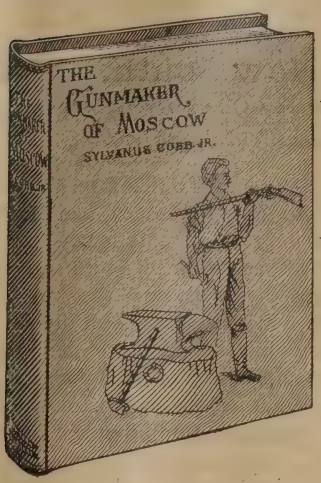
Cobb (Sylvanus, Jr.,)--Gunmaker of Moscow.

Author of "The Storm Secret," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.



"The Gunmaker of Moscow" was written expressly for and published originally in the New York Ledger in 1856.

Over twenty thousand dollars—a great sum of money for those days—were spent in advertising it. "The Gunmaker" being a great story, and having been thus extensively advertised, met with phenomenal success, and so constant has been the demand for the back numbers of the Ledger containing it, that it has been republished three times in the Ledger. Notwithstanding these republications, the demand for "The Gunmaker" still continues.

"Few American works of fiction have ever enjoyed the popularity won by 'The Gunmaker.'"—Boston Courier.

"This story ranks with 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' in the number of its readers. It is one of the happiest memories of childhood of many persons now of mature years."—New York Evening Sun.

"'The Gunmaker of Moscow' is a tremendously exciting story."—New Orleans Picayune.

Dyer (Oliver)--Great Senators of the United States Forty Years Ago (1848 and 1849), With Personal Recollections and Delineations of Calhoun, Benton, Clay, Webster, General Houston, Jefferson Davis, etc. Bound in Cloth. Price, $1.00.

"Mr. Dyer's relation with the great Senators of forty years ago was one very fortunate for the acquiring of fresh impressions. It is impossible to read his reminiscences without being aware that the impressions he reports are genuine."—New York Times.

"Among the recent contributions to American history, none is worthy of more serious attention than a volume entitled 'Great Senators,' by Oliver Dyer. It would be easy to fill columns with effective extracts from this volume, but we must confine ourselves to two or three examples of incisive and impartial delineation. Mr. Dyer's analysis of Webster's individuality is the most searching that we have ever seen; indeed, it is the only one which accounts at once for the triumphs and the shortcomings of the great parliamentary champion of the Union."—New York Sun.

Mr. Dyer's book has been a great success. It is written in a brilliant and charming style, and deals with persons and a period of great interest to all Americans. While it is a delightful book for the passing hour, it is at the same time a serious contribution to American history; and one of the prominent New York daily newspapers well said: "Every library and every schoolhouse should have this contribution to our meager fund of enjoyable and instructive reminiscence." In it are told stories of Calhoun, Benton, Clay, Webster, Sam Houston and Jefferson Davis—men whose names awaken a flood of memories in the minds of all whose personal recollections extend to the times before the war, and which excite the curiosity of all who are interested in their country's history.

Grady (Henry W.)--The New South. With a

Character Sketch of Henry W. Grady, by Oliver Dyer. 16mo. Bound in Cloth. Uniform with "Great Senators." Price, $1.00.

In his letter consenting to write the series of letters which form this volume, Mr. Grady said: "It is a matter that I take great interest in, and I will give you six letters that I think will make an impression. My idea would be to deal in the first letter with the difference between the new South and the old. In the second, with the general growth of the South since the war. In the third, with the agriculture of the South. In the fourth, with the industrial status of the South. In the fifth, with the political condition of the South and its probable outcome, and touching the race problem. In the sixth, a general letter closing the series." Mr. Grady did not adhere strictly to this outline, but it affords a sufficiently clear idea of his intention and the contents of the volume. "In his letters to the New York Ledger on 'The New South,'" Mr. Dyer, in his eloquent sketch, says, "Mr. Grady gave to the world the gist and essence of all that he had been inspired to write on that subject by his love for the land of his birth, by his pride in her worth and his hope in her destiny. These letters evidently came hot from his heart; they are freighted with information, are picturesque in description, fervid and eloquent in style, honest in purpose and noble in spirit. They will long be treasured as the latest and ripest utterances of the remarkable man who wrote them."

Green (Anna Katharine)--The Forsaken Inn.

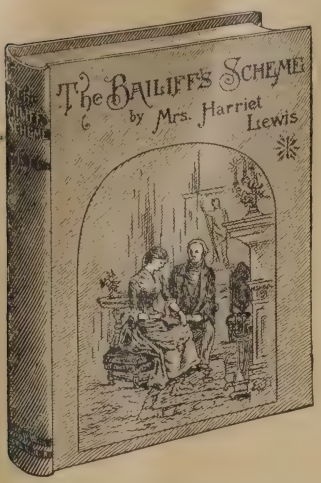
Illustrated. 12mo. 352 pages. Handsomely Bound in English Cloth, Black and Gold Stamping on Cover. Price, $1.50.

Anna Katharine Green's new novel will excite great curiosity and be widely popular. The authoress of "The Leavenworth Case" has always been considered extraordinarily clever in the construction of mystifying and exciting plots, but in her latest book she has not only eclipsed even herself in her specialty, but has combined with her story-telling gift a fascinating mixture of poetical qualities which makes "The Forsaken Inn" a work of such interest that it will not be laid down by an imaginative reader until he has reached the last line of the last chapter. The scene of the story is the Hudson, between Albany and Poughkeepsie, and the time is the close of the eighteenth century. In writing her previous books, the authoress carefully planned her work before putting pen to paper, but this story was written in a white heat, and under the spur of a moment of inspiration.

The illustrations of "The Forsaken Inn" are by Victor Perard. They are twenty-one in number, and are a beautiful embellishment of the book.

Lewis (Mrs. Harriet)--The Bailiff's Scheme.

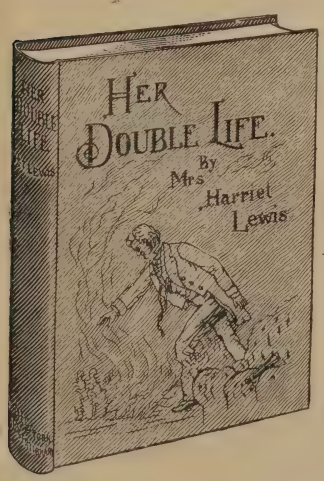
Author of "Her Double Life," "Lady Kildare," "Sundered Hearts," "The Rival Cousins," "The House of Secrets," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.



Mrs. Lewis has in this novel wrought out with masculine strength a story with a deep and subtle plot, in which aristocratic profligacy, domestic brutality and heartless villainy do their worst. So closely are the threads woven that, once taken up, the desire to pursue the story to the end, to discover the fate which ultimately overtakes the partners in guilt, is intense. This is one of the strongest novels which Mrs. Lewis ever produced. It is the history of a domestic drama which no other society than that of England, which is the scene of the story, could have evolved. It would be impossible in the brief space at our command to give the barest outline of this extraordinary novel, or any notion of its surpassing interest. Some of Mrs. Lewis's admirers claim that it is her best; but, at any rate, it is a story which no novel reader should miss.

Lewis (Mrs. Harriet)--Her Double Life.

Author of "Lady Kildare," "Sundered Hearts," "The Bailiff's Scheme," "The Rival Cousins," "The House of Secrets," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.



"Her Double Life" is one of Mrs. Lewis's very best stories. When it was originally published in the New York Ledger, it was at once recognized as a literary production of transcendent merit, and created a profound interest in Mrs. Lewis's succeeding works.

"Her Double Life" is the history of a lovely English lady—Lady Beatrice Hampton—who was obliged to conceal her marriage for many years, because, through the machinations of a fiendish schemer, her husband's life would have been in constant danger had it been known that he was in England, or even alive anywhere in the world. The incidents which occurred in the life of the Lady Beatrice, owing to her unfortunate situation, are among the most thrilling ever recorded in the annals of biography.

"'Her Double Life' is one of the best stories of that excellent writer of romance, Mrs. Harriet Lewis."—New York News.

Lewis (Mrs. Harriet)--Lady Kildare. Author of "Her Double Life," "Sundered Hearts," "The Bailiff's Scheme," "The Rival Cousins," "The House of Secrets," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

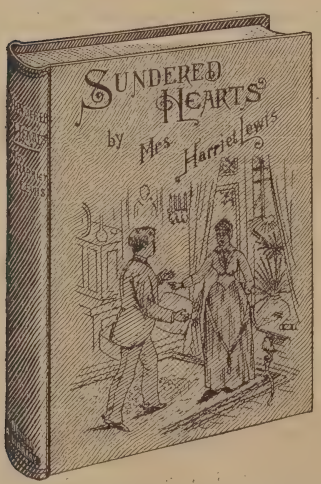
Among the most engrossing of the popular stories published in the New York Ledger in the last third of a century, is "Lady Kildare," a story not only of absorbing interest, but also of instructive value. It is an Irish tale, pure, invigorating and wholesome. In it, the writer, Mrs. Harriet Lewis, seized on the most picturesque and romantic traits in the Celtic character, and wove them into one of the most graceful of the Ledger romances.

The trials of Nora, "the Lady of Kildare," and her lovely cousin, Kathleen, the unexampled temptations to which they were exposed, their sufferings and their constancy, faith and fortitude in all situations keep the reader on the qui vive of excitement from the first paragraph in the story to the last line of the final chapter. None of Mrs. Lewis's novels has more freshness and brilliancy than "Lady Kildare," and there is none that has more contemporaneous interest.

Lewis (Mrs. Harriet)--Sundered Hearts.

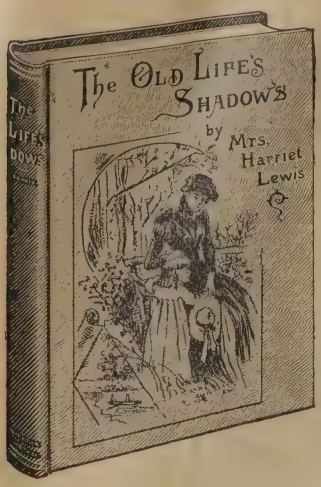
Author of "Lady Kildare," "Her Double Life," "The Bailiff's Scheme," "The Rival Cousins," "The House of Secrets," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.



Mrs. Harriet Lewis, the daughter of a farmer living at Pen Yan, in the State of New York, was a woman of unquestioned genius. In her short life, she produced a considerable number of novels, all of a high average of merit. Her story, "Sundered Hearts," deals with a pathetic situation and is full of tender feeling. When two persons of loyal and trustful character, and holding to each other the most tender and intimate relations which can exist on earth, become estranged, there is a deep and solemn tragedy enacted, which affords to the novelist a subject of universal interest. This is the subject chosen by Mrs. Lewis in this novel, and the way in which she has treated it is replete with true feeling and profound interest. The plot of the novel is simple, and the reader feels from the beginning that the author is dealing with an experience which she is perfectly competent to describe, and the result is one of the most touching and satisfying of love stories.

Lewis (Mrs. Harriet)--The Old Life's Shadows.

Author of "Lady Kildare," "Sundered Hearts," "The Bailiff's Scheme," "The Rival Cousins," "The House of Secrets," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.



This is a novel of great power. The plot and incidents are well conceived and molded into a continuous narrative of immense interest. Nowhere has Mrs. Lewis shown greater skill and ingenuity than in the construction of this story. The scene of the story is Redruth Moor farm, in Lincolnshire, England, and its picturesque, century-old stone dwelling, which at the opening of the story is occupied by Miss Jacobea Redruth, a maiden lady of peculiar traits and masculine energy. Miss Jacob, as she is called by her neighbors, is one of those strong individualities which make their mark wherever they appear and whose doings are always full of interest. The other important characters in this story are a most charming woman and a handsome profligate. There are subordinate characters full of real life and marvelously well calculated to develop the plot and engage the interest of the reader.

Libbey (Laura Jean)--Ione. Author of "Miss

Middleton's Lover," "A Mad Betrothal," "The Mystery of Black-Tor Lighthouse," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

Miss Libbey is the favorite writer with thousands of her countrymen and women. She is an American, with all the national instincts and sentiments, and her stories are purely American in their characteristics and in their description of life and nature. Her stories possess the merit of being readable and pleasing. No one can take up a novel like "Ione" and put it down unread. In this respect, her readers owe her a debt of gratitude. She is never dull. "Ione" will be read, from beginning to end, with breathless interest.

Libbey (Laura Jean)--A Mad Betrothal; or,

Nadine's Vow. Author of "Ione," "Miss Middleton's Lover," etc. With Seven Illustrations by Arthur Lumley. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

Miss Libbey's new novel is one of the most attractive books issued this year. It is intensely interesting, and shows remarkable power of grasping the strong features of situation, incident, plot and character, which mark the successful novelist.

Libbey (Laura Jean)--Parted by Fate; or, The Mystery of Black-Tor Lighthouse. Author of "Ione," "A Mad Betrothal," etc. With Fourteen Beautiful Illustrations by Harry C. Edwards. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

Miss Libbey's novels appeal to the young, and especially to young women. They are lively and sparkling, abounding in charming sentiment and with incidents connected with courtship and marriage. There are so many complications possible in the relations of lovers that invention would seem to be an endless chain. Miss Libbey's books are among the most popular publications of the present time, and "Parted by Fate" a good example of the very best of them.

Niemann (August)--The Baroness Blank.

A Novel of the New German Empire. Translated by Miss Meta DeVere. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound in Cloth, $1.00.

This is the production of a great and admirable writer. It belongs to the highest class of modern fiction, in which the principal characters of our epoch are reproduced with their atmosphere and environment. No one can take up this book and fail to be struck with the masterly presentation of character and motive, and the excellence of the dialogue. The scenes are placed in the highest circles of the German capital, showing the vast wealth and influence of the great Hebrew families and their connections. The plot embraces many situations and characters, and is somewhat diffuse, but there is an abundance of incident and thrilling and passionate feeling.

Peck (Prof. Wm. Henry)--The Stone-Cutter

of Lisbon. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

"The Stone-Cutter of Lisbon" deals with a great seismic disturbance which ranks with the great events of history. The terrible earthquake of Lisbon shook the confidence of man in the solid framework of the earth, and for the time Lisbon was the theater of the wildest excesses and extremes of human passion. In this time and in these circumstances Professor Peck has laid the scene of his novel. Stonio, the hero, is a character which commands admiration, and his conduct in the trying situations in which he is placed is a splendid exhibition of unaffected manliness and romantic daring. Such a character is sufficient to make the success of a novel. But there is much more in "The Stone-Cutter of Lisbon." It depicts in a striking and picturesque manner the oppression to which the poor people of Portugal were subjected in the days when their lordly oppressors looked upon them as no better than slaves or beasts of burden, and also the startling manner in which the oppressed masses sometimes avenged themselves upon their tyrants.

Reddall (Henry F.)--Henry M. Stanley.

His Life and His Explorations, with a Full Account of His Latest Achievement, The Rescue of Emin Bey. 12mo. 416 pages. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

Mr. Reddall has prepared a timely account of one of the greatest explorers known to history. His book contains a record of Stanley's adventurous career from the time he started out as a cabin-boy from his home in Wales to his return with the rescued Emin Bey. It meets the demand for a more comprehensive account of this remarkable man than previously existed, and satisfies the eager desire of all who have read of his last great exploit for authentic information concerning his whole adventurous career and heroic achievements.

Reid (Captain Mayne)--Cris Rock. Paper

Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

"Cris Rock" is one of Captain Mayne Reid's most characteristic tales. Dr. Livingstone once said that his books were of the kind to turn boys into travellers. And not boys only, but men and women. He makes his tales of travel so fascinating that we long to tread in the footsteps of heroes and heroines. The scene of "Cris Rock" is the coast of the gulf and interior of Mexico. The story opens in New Orleans, with a call for volunteers for the relief of Texas, setting forth the treachery of General Santa Anna and the butchery of the Alamo. It is a stirring opening for a tale of perils, captivities and escapes. The adventures of the hero in the mountainous heart of old Mexico abound in scenes of strange beauty and wild and thrilling exploits. As a writer for the young, no one has excelled Captain Mayne Reid. His books enjoy a perennial popularity. They abound in incident, are brisk in movement, and the interest never flags. "Cris Rock" is an admirable example of his style.

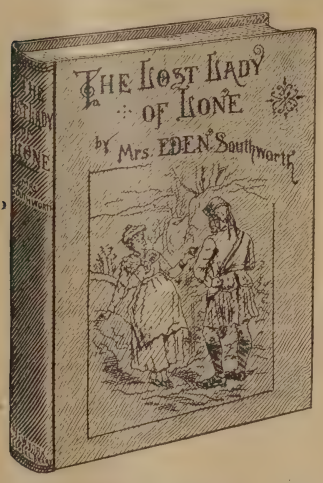
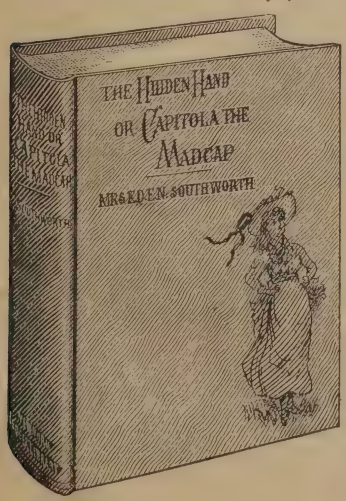
Southworth (Mrs. E. D. E. N.)--The Lost Lady of Lone. Author of "The Hidden Hand," "For Woman's Love," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.



"The Lost Lady of Lone" is one of Mrs. Southworth's most romantic tales. The heroine is a woman almost too exquisite and admirable for this world. Her ideal type might be the creation of a poet. She wins the heart of the reader from her first introduction in the pages of the novel, and every circumstance that affects her life is followed with the intensest sympathy and interest. This story is thoroughly characteristic of Mrs. Southworth, and possesses all the merits of picturesque narration and description which distinguish her best novels. The scene of the story is the ancient castle of Lone in Scotland. The hero is the heir, who has alienated his ancestral home through a desire to gratify the extravagant caprices of a beloved parent. The story is full of old-world charm and interest.

Southworth (Mrs. E. D. E. N.)--The Hidden Hand. Author of "Unknown," "Self-Made," etc., etc. Paper Cover, 50 Cents. Bound Volume, $1.00.

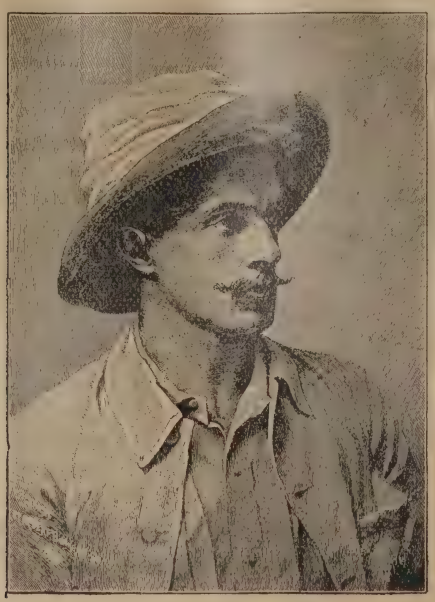


"The Hidden Hand; or, Capitola the Madcap," is one of the most popular stories ever issued from the press. We doubt if, in all the realms of literature, there has ever been a heroine who could vie with the captivating madcap Capitola in exciting the admiration of readers, or in winning and keeping their hearts. She is so bright, so spirited, so beautiful, so sagacious, so dauntless, and yet so innocent and childlike, that she at once takes all readers captive and holds them enchained by her fascinations clear to the last page of the story.

The way in which Capitola outwits, overcomes and captures the gigantic and brutal robber Black Donald, when he had concealed himself in her lonely room

Ward (Herbert)--Five Years with the Congo Cannibals.

Magnificently Illustrated with many Full-Page Engravings and scores of Smaller Engravings, after Original Drawings made on the spot by the Author. Crown octavo, elegantly bound. Price, $3.00.



Sincerely Yours
Herbert Ward.

Herbert Ward's book is the record of five years spent with the most savage tribes of the far interior of Africa. It contains many facts, hitherto unknown, concerning the life, customs and superstitions of the cannibal races. It abounds with thrilling adventures, and the story it tells of risks and dangers encountered in strange places, and among wild and hostile people, is one of fascinating interest. A flood of light is thrown on the horrors and cruelties existing among the millions of Central Africa.

Mr. Ward's travels in Africa commenced in 1884, when he received an appointment in the service of the Congo Free State. He was a member of the Emin Bey Relief Expedition, and while in the service of Mr. H. M. Stanley, he made his memorable canoe journey of eleven hundred miles on the Congo.

His book contains entirely new matter about the tribes of Central Africa, will have permanent interest and value, and will be the standard work on that subject.

Williams' Series of Map-Drawing Books, with instructions by J. Francon Williams, F.R.G.S. Each book contains (1) a complete full-colored map, so attached as to be always available for copying; (2) an uncolored map without the names, which the pupil can fill in as an introductory exercise; (3) an outline map with coast-line, and lines of latitude and longitude only — the pupil being required to fill in the mountains, rivers, towns, etc., with the names; (4) map with lines of latitude and longitude only; (5) a blank sheet with border of map only. These books, therefore, provide for repeated practice in drawing each map, which cannot fail to impress the principal features, both physical and political, more firmly on the memory than by merely referring to an atlas. Eslick's Patent Dissected Maps. The maps used for these dissections are 12 x 9 inches, which are admirably adapted for this work, being clearly defined, and accurate in detail. The special features of his patent are, first, the careful dissection of the maps (on strong clamped boards) to the outline of the various counties, departments, states and countries; and, second, the border of each map being permanent, it may be used as an agreeable and easy introduction to outline map-drawing; so that children using them merely as playthings unconsciously acquire an intimate knowledge of the geographical position, shape, and comparative size of the respective Countries or Continents, and of the Counties or States of which they are composed.

Sunday School and Theological Books, Libraries and Sunday School Requisites.

BOSTON, MASS:
BRADLEY & WOODRUFF.
234 AND 236 CONGRESS STREET,
1890.

TO PASTORS, SUPERINTENDENTS, AND TEACHERS.

THE importance of the Sunday-school library is one of the main factors in establishing and cultivating Christian character. Has it received the attention it deserved? Corrupt literature has been sown broadcast, and in many cases taken into the sanctuary itself. It is needless to ask, "What will the harvest be?"

The majority of young people especially are bound to read, and will naturally devour that which first comes to their hands. Therefore, if you would hold them under the influence of the Church, you must put into their hands books of pure, health-giving character,—books that will inspire them to good work and noble deeds; inculcate upon their mind and heart impulses and desires for that which is good.

The only way to save them from the influence of corrupt books is to put within their reach good ones, which is a powerful supplement to the Sunday lesson, by supplying week-day readings.

Every volume in the following list has been carefully read and approved by competent persons appointed for that purpose. In our endeavor to obtain the very best undenominational list of books published, the following questions have been carefully considered:—

Is the literary style of each book good?

Is it instructive and interesting?

Is its religious teaching positive and sound in doctrine, moral and religious sentiment, as held and taught by the Church?

To the above questions we emphatically answer in the affirmative; and with the particular care we have exerted in this respect, we feel confident that nothing objectionable can be found, but, on the contrary, that these books will prove particularly interesting, instructive, and elevating. They are written by authors well known as moral and to us any book on this list not wholly satisfactory on account of its character.

Is your Sunday-school library what it should be in respect to the character and number of books "good to read"? If not, we hope you will give it your immediate attention. We know that raising the money to purchase them is sometimes a hard matter to overcome, but "man cannot live by bread alone," and it is as much our duty to supply food for the mind and the soul as it is for the body; and if parents would appreciate this fact, there would be little difficulty in raising the money for the library, and giving to their children a Christian education. Those who know these facts should teach them.

The most books for the least money is a most harmful error made by many who buy for the Sunday school. You cannot buy gold for less than its real value. Neither can you buy good books, well made, and by first-class authors, less than reasonable rates. We challenge comparison of prices with any responsible house. We have made the retail prices very low, on which a discount to libraries will be made. We have also classified our books in this catalogue to the respective age for whose benefit they are written. (See Index, page 2.)

LATEST PUBLICATIONS.

ANOTHER KING. By Janet Eden. 16mo. Illustrated. 323 pages $1 25

A tale involving the history of two or three working-class families, showing how the head of one of them, a hard, sceptical, unforgiving man, was brought to the peace and life of the gospel.

"'A little child shall lead them' finds illustration in Janet Eden's pretty story of 'Another King.'"—Sunday School Times.

BARBARA'S BROTHERS. By Evelyn Everett Green. A rare book for boys. 16mo. Illustrated. 447 pages . . . 1 25

"An English story of great merit. It tells the story of three young men and three young women in the upper or middle classes of society, with their ambitions and sacrifices, their headstrong wills and self-controls. It shows the power of quiet goodness and strength to conquer ill-will and selfishness in others, and to lead them to the Christ. The book is not preachy; the religious talk is brief, but real, and the characters are strong and life-like. It is a 'grown-up' story for young men and women. Its characters love and marry, but the principle, rather than the sentiment, of love, is made conspicuous. We recommend it heartily as a strong and wholesome book."—Pilgrim Teacher.

CRITICISMS.

"The whole forming of itself an attractive library that possesses sterling worth in the accuracy of its facts, the felicity of their grouping, and the clearness and raciness of its style. As there has been for some time an increasing sense of the importance of careful and accurate acquaintance with the history of the old Covenant, this series is sure to be sought for and studied with profit by those who wish to bring to the study of the New Dispensation that aid to its full comprehension which can only be obtained by the light thrown on it by the earlier dispensation.

"To ministers and teachers they will be found to be a real Biblical treasury. We speak advisedly when we say that they are pre-eminently suggestive books. They excite interest, they stimulate inquiry, and they point the way to fields of thought that are entirely new, or to old fields that shine in new richness and beauty from the light that is thrown upon them. There is abundance of material for attractive and profitable sermons in the histories and the personal sketches in the Old Testament.

"We do not see how it would be possible for a preacher with any reasonable endowment of intellectual and spiritual receptivity, to read a chapter taken at random from the volumes without finding some trains of thought started that are new to him, and would be found new and profitable if developed for the benefit of those to whom he ministers."—Rev. G. W. Anderson, D.D., Philadelphia.

"There is no doubt that this author was qualified in a very remarkable way to prepare such a history as this. Dr. Edersheim's intimate familiarity with Jewish life and modes of thought, and his ability to say so well what he knows, enables him to paint with great vividness and distinctness the scenes he describes, and the events which he narrates. We heartily commend it to our readers."—The Presbyterian.

Edersheim. Laws and Polity of the Jews. By E. W. Edersheim. 8vo. Cloth. 216 pages 1 00

In studying the history of a nation, the first object perceived by an outsider would be the structure and the directors of the state. Accordingly the first part of this book has been devoted to the Polity of the Jews, dealing, in the first instance, with its ruler, the King; then sketching its Priesthood, and then its Prophets, which gives a full description of the great state directors. To the Polity, also, belongs the Judges and Courts of Law including the criminal law of the Pentateuch.

Next, the nation is considered in relation to other nations in peace and war. The individual Israelite is viewed in his relationship to the state, his dues, taxes, and tributes.

The second part deals with his domestic life, his land and his property inherited from his fathers, the Israelite's household, his wife and children, slaves and servants, sickness, death, and mourning, his commercial dealings.

The third part concerns the moral and social life of Israel. Here the all-pervading motive is shown to be love manifested to God in reverent obedience; to man in self-abnegation and unselfishness. As the great foundation on which the whole structure is built, stands the moral law, revealed in the Ten Words.

The reason for this immutability of the Jewish code of laws is most important, as it not only throws light on the events of Old Testament history, but explains to us the real necessity and object of the nation itself, and gives dignity and value to laws in themselves often seemingly (but only seemingly) unmeaning.

GRAHAM McCALL'S VICTORY. By Grace Stebbing. 16mo. Illustrated. 383 pages $1 25

An historical story of great interest, showing the struggles and trials endured by the Convenanters. It is a very instructive as well as a pleasing book.

Just one of the books boys love; full of good, manly lessons.

"This is an account of the adventures of three lads in Paris during its investment by the Prussians in 1870 . . . The story is absorbingly interesting; there is not a dull page between its covers. Its moral tone is good, and it conveys incidentally considerable historical information." — Sunday School Journal.

HEAD OF THE HOUSE, THE. By Evelyn E. Green. 16mo. Illustrated. 450 pages 1 25

A story of victory over passion and pride.

"A story specially fitted for girls, and well told throughout." — Public Opinion.

"It is one of the best Sunday-school books we have read for a long time." — Lynn Transcript.

HER HUSBAND'S HOME. By Evelyn E. Green. 16mo. Illustrated. 384 pages 1 25

Wendell. Diacritical Edition of the Holy Bible. Containing the Old and New Testaments. Translated out of the Original Tongues. Being the version set forth A.D. 1611, compared with the most ancient authorities and revised. The revisions of 1881 and 1885 compared with the version of 1611. Every word or sentence in the Revised Bible which differs from the Old Version is diacritically marked (thus ‖ ‖), so by reference to foot notes shows at a glance the changes which have been made between the Authorized and Revised Versions. It is used and recommended by the leading theological professors and biblical students; any person once using it, seeing its simplicity, correctness, and valuable references, will want no other. The typography and letter press is the most perfect of any Bible in the market. By Rufus Wendell. 8vo.

A few of the many very favorable criticisms of this valuable work: —

"Unquestionably and incomparably the best edition of the revised and common versions, whether for critical or for general use. As an edition of the Revised Version alone, it has few, if any, superiors on either side of the Atlantic. But as the Bible student's vade mecum, it surpasses all others in convenience and in utility. It entirely supersedes all parallel column editions of the revised and common versions, and thus economizes time, trouble, and eye-strength." — The Boston Academy, edited by the Rev. Alfred A. Wright, D.D., Dean of the Chautauqua School of Theology.

"I am delighted with your Revised Bible, and do not hesitate to say that it is by far the best of all that I have seen. Others have attempted to solve the problem how to put the reader in possession of all the changes as between the old and the new; you have done it. Personally, I thank you for your painstaking labor, and believe that every possessor of your work will be your debtor. The typography is well nigh perfect, and is a delight to the eye." — Rev. George F. Pentecost, D.D.

"The Revised Bible, edited by the Rev. Rufus Wendell, has been generally acknowledged by students to be the best edition of the Revised New Testament yet published, whether for the general reader interested in the Christian Scriptures, or as a convenient guide for those who wish to study critically any passage, such as clergymen, religious editors, and teachers of Bible classes. The editor of that edition was supposed, by many good judges, to have attained the ne plus ultra of beauty, convenience, and accuracy in an edition of the Revised New Testament, facilitating comparison with the common version. But he has proved himself to be his own Columbus, and in his 'Diacritical' edition of the whole Revised Bible, has gone, in my judgment, far beyond what was thought the ne plus ultra. The Christian public owe Mr. Wendell a debt of gratitude for his great ingenuity, his practical good sense, and his painstaking, immense labor, necessary to give them this admirable help in searching the Scriptures." — The Rev. Thomas Hill, D.D., LL.D. (Portland, Me.), Ex-President of Harvard University.

"Your 'Diacritical' edition of the Revised Bible is the most useful tool — not in my chest, but — on my work-bench; i.e., my desk. I can't spare it long enough to put it in the chest. It is among the books that are always in hand-reach of my chair, indispensable." — The Rev. George Lansing Taylor, D.D., L.H.D., Methodist Episcopal Pastor, Brooklyn, N.Y.

DOROTHY'S VOCATION. By Evelyn E. Green. 12mo. Illustrated. 238 pages 1 00

One of this popular author's latest books. The story brings out in striking contrast the difference between a young girl who guides her life by right principles, and one who only lives to gratify herself. It is a grand book for girls, showing how faithfulness brings its own reward without taking any of the light and pleasure out of life, while fraud and sham are sooner or later found out.

ONLY A GIRL WIFE. By Ruth Lamb. 12mo. Illustrated. 368 pages 1 25

A most life-like story, contrasting two families, one of which lived a fashionable life, influenced by a proud, extravagant wife; the other, which had quieter pleasures and lived within their means, with the usual result. While one was finally ruined, the other continued to live with the love and respect of all.

STEADY AND TRUE. By Julia Douglas. 12mo. Illustrated. 250 pages 1 00

This is a well-written tale, which aims to show how much better and easier it is to be both steady and true in all the events of life.

STRONGER WILL, THE. By Evelyn E. Green. 12mo. Illustrated. 306 pages 1 25

This story illustrates the folly and wickedness of a family quarrel on account of money, and how they were brought to love each other by the influence of one with a stronger will, who guided her life by gentleness and love.

CRITICISMS.

"The whole forming of itself an attractive library that possesses sterling worth in the accuracy of its facts, the felicity of their grouping, and the clearness and raciness of its style. As there has been for some time an increasing sense of the importance of careful and accurate acquaintance with the history of the old Covenant, this series is sure to be sought for and studied with profit by those who wish to bring to the study of the New

Dispensation that aid to its full comprehension which can only be obtained by the light thrown on it by the earlier dispensation.

"To ministers and teachers they will be found to be a real Biblical treasury. We speak advisedly when we say that they are pre-eminently suggestive books. They excite interest, they stimulate inquiry, and they point the way to fields of thought that are entirely new, or to old fields that shine in new richness and beauty from the light that is thrown upon them. There is abundance of material for attractive and profitable sermons in the histories and the personal sketches in the Old Testament.

"We do not see how it would be possible for a preacher with any reasonable endowment of intellectual and spiritual receptivity, to read a chapter taken at random from these volumes without finding some trains of thought started that are new to him, and would be found new and profitable if developed for the benefit of those to whom he ministers."—REV. G. W. ANDERSON, D.D., Philadelphia.

"There is no doubt that this author was qualified in a very remarkable way to prepare such a history as this. Dr. Edersheim's intimate familiarity with Jewish life and modes of thought, and his ability to say so well what he knows, enables him to paint with great vividness and distinctness the scenes he describes, and the events which he narrates. We heartily commend it to our readers."—The Presbyterian.

Farrar's Life of Christ. By Frederic W. Farrar, D. D., F. R. S. 12mo. 744 pages 3 50

Dr. Farrar's valuable work could hardly be presented in a better or more attractive form. It is beautifully printed, with copious notes, full reference to authorities; and from a hasty examination the Appendix of American translations appears to be carefully and well done.—Golden Rule.

Kennedy. Christ and the Song. By Rev. James Kennedy, D. D. 12mo. Cloth. 320 pages 1 50

Being a series of lectures on the views of Christ as set forth in the Song of Songs, which is Solomon's. It takes the ground that the Beloved in the Song is Christ in relation to his people, and the Spouse in his redeemed Church in relation to him as the head.

Mitchell. The Critical Handbook. A guide to the study of the Authenticity, Canon, and Text of the Greek New Testament. Illustrated by a map, diagram, and tables. By Edward C. Mitchell, D.D. 12mo. Cloth, 1 75

BRADLEY & WOODRUFF'S PUBLICATIONS.

FLORENCE, ITALY, Nov. 6, 1881.

"Are your readers acquainted with the Rev. Dr. Mitchell's 'Critical Handbook?' There is nothing in the title-page or preface to indicate that it was ever published in America, and if not, it has probably had few readers among the author's own countrymen. I wish to speak of it in terms of superlative commendation; and more than half a century of conversance with the department of literature to which it belongs, may entitle me to express an opinion with some good degree of confidence. The title defines it, for it fills out the contents of this title, and contains no irrelevant or superfluous matter. I know of no manual that fills the place for which it is designed and fitted. The materials which it condenses could be supplied only by a weary and often baffling search through may volumes, and they would then need the careful sifting, the apt collation, and the searching criticism to which Dr. Mitchell has subjected them. Still further, some of the best repertories in this department, besides their unwieldy bulk, are behind our times, lack the last results of contemporary learning, and contain with their wheat no small amount of such chaff as modern scepticism has an entire right to scatter to the winds. In fine, the student or inquirer who would know precisely the reasons for receiving the books of the New Testament as the writings of their commonly reputed authors, the history of those books in the primitive ages, and the sources and value of the manuscripts and versions from which our present text of the Christian Scriptures is derived, will find in this volume a complete digest of all that the ripest scholarship can furnish; while such of the materials as can be tabulated are given in a series of tables, which, for simplicity, thoroughness, and comprehensiveness, leave nothing to be desired."—REV. A. P. PEABODY, D.D., LL.D., of Harvard College, Cambridge, to the Editor of the Watchman.

"Prof. Mitchell, after long experience as a theological professor in the United States, is now at the head of an American theological school in Paris, and is admirably qualified to write such a digest as the present. It presents, for general use, the results of more elaborate works, the sum and substance of the ancient testimonies to the canonical books carefully compiled, and with ample references, especially in foot-notes, to the originals. The history of the text of the New Testament is made doubly interesting by fac-similes of the various kinds of ancient manuscripts; notices of all the principal manuscripts; and tables, giving in a condensed form the substance of much valuable research."—PROF. W. G. BLAIKIE, D.D., LL.D., of Edinburgh, in the Catholic Presbyterian for March, 1881.

Mitchell. Gesenius. Gesenius's Hebrew Grammar. Translated by Benjamin Davies, LL.D., from Rödiger's edition. Thoroughly revised and enlarged, on the basis of the latest edition of Prof. E. Kautzsch, and from other recent authorities, with full subject, scripture, and Hebrew indexes. By Edward C. Mitchell, D.D. 8vo. 471 pages. Cloth $3 00

This is believed to be the most complete Hebrew Grammar now accessible to English students. This Grammar is used at Bangor, Andover, Hartford, Yale, Newton, Harvard, Drew, Auburn, Hamilton, Columbia, Richmond, Morgan, Park, and other seminaries. Dr. Mitchell fully acknowledges his indebtedness to Kautzsch, to Davies, and to other writers, but fully establishes his rights to the gratitude of all Hebrew students for his own independent labors. His Hebrew index is astonishingly full, making the grammar a philological clavis for the explanation of difficult forms.

"This is probably the best grammar for the student of Hebrew, both to make a beginning at learning the language, and as a book of reference."—Examiner and Chronicle.

"It gives the substance of Hebrew grammatical learning brought down to our day."—The Churchman.

"A work which has come from one of the greatest of Hebrew lexicographers and grammarians, Gesenius, which has formed the basis of many subsequent grammars in Germany, England, and America, and has stood the test of actual use for more than half a century. All that needed to be

Mitchell. Davies. A Compendious and Complete Hebrew and Chaldee Lexicon to the Old Testament. With an English-Hebrew index. By Benjamin Davies, Ph.D., LL.D. Carefully revised by Edward C. Mitchell, D.D. 8vo. Cloth. 764 pages 4 00
Half morocco 5 00

"It is in many respects an improvement upon either of the Lexicons now in use. . . . So far from being an abridgment, the present edition will be found to contain over a thousand more Hebrew words or forms than appear in Tregelles's or Robinson's Gesenius, besides incorporating into the body of the work all grammatical forms contained in Robinson's Analytical Appendix." — Editor's Preface.

"Unquestionably the most beautiful, comprehensive, convenient, and suggestive Lexicon of these languages." — The Greek Student.

Of this Lexicon, Prof. R. F. Weidner, when giving, in the Lutheran Church Review, a working library for the study of the Old Testament, says, "The writer himself, for practical use, prefers the Lexicon prepared by Dr. Davies, republished by Draper, now published by Bradley & Woodruff, edited by Dr. Mitchell. Dr. Davies has founded it upon the works of Gesenius and Fuerst, and all the definitions have been rewritten and condensed without being abridged. This edition is especially valuable in that it is adapted to Dr. Mitchell's edition of the Grammar of Gesenius."

"Davies' Lexicon is the one selected by Prof. John P. Peters of Philadelphia for his list of books 'suitable for a scholarly man.'" — Old Testament Student, January, 1888.

Wendell. Diacritical Edition of the Holy Bible. Containing the Old and New Testaments. Translated out of the Original Tongues. Being the version set forth A.D. 1611, compared with the most ancient authorities and revised. The revisions of 1881 and 1885 compared with the version of 1611. Every word or sentence in the Revised Bible which differs from the Old Version is diacritically marked (thus ‖ ‖), so by reference to foot notes shows at a glance the changes which have been made between the Authorized and Revised Versions. It is used and recommended by the leading theological professors and biblical students; any person once using it, seeing its simplicity, correctness, and valuable references, will want no other. The typography and letter press is the most perfect of any Bible in the market. By Rufus Wendell. 8vo.

ALL WHO HAVE READ BLACKMORE'S FASCINATING ROMANCE,

"LORNA DOONE,"

Will hail with delight this edition containing several hundred illustrations by famous English and American artists, of its never-to-be-forgotten pastoral scenes and incidents.

To read this story as it was first published, without illustrations, is a privilege, but to read it in THIS EDITION, the eye gratified by the broad margins of the pages, the fineness of the paper, and the clearness of the type, and the interest carried along by these charmingly natural illustrations, is a DELIGHT.

Also Special Limited Edition in Two Volumes. Extra elegant three-quarter Levant Morocco, with portfolio containing an extra proof set of all the full page illustrations mounted on card-board, and a very charming photogravure reproduction of a picture of the heroine painted for this edition only, and not in the regular one. PRESS NOTICES OF THE CLEVELAND EDITION OF "LORNA DOONE."

The Syracuse Standard.

"If it be possible to regret previous knowledge of this inimitable tale, it is that one may not have the pleasure of becoming acquainted with it through the medium of this admirable edition."

Woman's Illustrated World.

* * * "For ourselves we make the confession that, having previously read the book four times from title page to finis, we did not feel that it would be necessary to read it again; but such was our delight in the rich smoothness of the paper, the clearness of the type, and the delicate beauty of the illustrations, that we were compelled to taste the contents, and, having once tasted, we could not stop until we had once again lived on the breezy hills of Exmoor. The volume that can thus affect the veteran book reviewer deserves to be constantly kept before the public."

Philadelphia Times.

"Perhaps the most superb edition of a work of fiction ever published in this country is The Burrows Brothers Company's Edition de Luxe of Blackmore's 'Lorna Doone.' * * * * This may not be the most beautifully illustrated book ever published in America, but it is perhaps the most beautifully illustrated novel ever published in any country."

The Northwestern Congregationalist.

"It is almost as difficult to find words adequately to describe the Edition de Luxe of 'Lorna Doone,' just issued by The Burrows Brothers Company, of Cleveland, as to describe the superlative excellence of the story itself."

New York Nation.

"The publishers can but be congratulated upon the result of their undertaking. The illustrations imply pains and expense, and are very good indeed. The publishers have rightly thought that a map of the scene of the story would be a useful accompaniment."

The Sunday School Times.

"The most interesting American gift book of the year is the liberally illustrated new edition of Blackmore's 'Lorna Doone.' As such it cannot fail to be popular beyond the present Christmas season." (This journal always buys its review copies, hence reviews nothing except of its own accord. It gave this book its leading place head of the list, and more than double the space it accorded any other work.)

The Chicago Tribune.

"This is a sumptuous edition of one of the masterpieces of English fiction. Its Cleveland publishers must be credited with wonderful liberality."

Boston Times.

"It would be a very difficult thing to find the equal of this volume in make-up, appearance, and intrinsic excellence. The illustrations demand more than passing mention. Full-page drawings, head-pieces, tail pieces, initial letters, sketches of scenery, indoor views and character sketches, in turn greet the reader on almost every page. Another feature of this volume is a very clearly printed map of Exmoor, the scene of the story. Is not this a fine idea? As the characters go from place to place, into the dreaded Doone Valley, or across the Tarr Steps, hither and thither their way can be traced, and an increased reality imparted to their doings."

PRESS NOTICES OF THE CLEVELAND EDITION OF "LORNA DOONE."

Magazine of Western History, New York City.

"They (the publishers), in the presentation of this superb edition of 'Lorna Doone,' have by one stride shown that they have the artistic skill and literary judgment that place them in the front rank of publishers when quality of work, rather than multiplicity of books, is considered."

Hartford Courant, (Chas. Dudley Warner's Paper.)

"They (the illustrations) are full of the spirit of the work and are graceful and dainty, and a wonderful addition to the story by their beauty and sympathetic interpretation."

Boston Evening Transcript.

"That this famous novel has passed into the category of the classics is attested by this sumptuous edition. * * * With its profuse illustrations, fine, broad pages, and handsome cover, what could make a finer gift than The Burrows edition of 'Lorna Doone?'"

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"The incidents, characters, and scenery of this romantic tale become doubly interesting and realistic when accompanied by illustrations. These are reckoned by the hundred in this new and superb edition. Those who make a classic of this novel—and they are not a few—will be delighted to find the story enshrined in such beautiful form."

Norwalk Reflector.

"Of all the books issued from the American press during the past year, this edition of 'Lorna Doone' is the finest."

The Plain Dealer, Cleveland.

"In everything that goes to the making of a perfect book, the Cleveland edition of 'Lorna Doone' leaves nothing to be desired. The discriminating reader of the best fiction knows no more perfect gem than Blackmore's masterpiece. The genuine book lover takes up with pleased anticipation the substantial volume and turns with satisfaction the broad margined pages, lingering appreciatively over the clear cut type and original heads, initials and tail-pieces, the fineness of the delicate illustrations, whose lines are brought out to perfection by the solid smoothness of paper and careful press-work."

Albany Argus.

"The sketches of scenery, the dainty views of woodland and glen, the indoor views and the character drawing, will delight all lovers of 'Lorna Doone.'"

College and School.

"Lorna Doone is always attractive, but she is quite irresistible in this her new holiday garb."

The New York Independent.

"It is a tribute to the author from the publishers which all lovers of the book must appreciate."

The Chautauquan.

"The new holiday edition is a worthy setting for this ever popular romance."

PRESS NOTICES OF THE CLEVELAND EDITION OF "LORNA DOONE."

The Critic.

* * * "There can hardly be many corners of Exmoor, nor many picturesque passages in the book, which have not been touched upon by these industrious draughtsmen. Vignettes of houses and farm-yards, sketches of moor and fenn and rocky glens, break the text and run into the margin, or adorn the initial letters of every chapter."

Literary World.

* * * "Paper, typography, and binding are of the best, and the illustrations add much to its charm. The map of Exmoor is a useful feature of this edition."

The American Stationer.

"To the Burrows Brothers Company must be adjudged the honor of producing one of the most beautiful holiday books ever issued in this country." * * *

Boston Post.

"Western enterprise is proverbial. The new and expensively illustrated edition of 'Lorna Doone' that comes to us from Cleveland is none the less a surprise."

HOTEL DE LONDES, No. 3 RUE BONAPARTE, PARIS.

* * * "The copy of 'Lorna Doone' just received, also those sent to my friends. They are very enthusiastic in their letters about it. * * * I think that you have done full justice to the work in every respect, type, paper, printing, etc., the reproduction of my drawings, as well as the others. I have no doubt that it will meet with the success it deserves. It is worthy of living for years, and to be kept in the market for all time. Very sincerely yours,

WILL H. DRAKE, (artist who prepared the initials).

Extracts from letter from Mrs. Margaret MacDonald Pullman (one of the artists. A second letter in praise of the work, and entirely unsolicited.)

"When I wrote you before, I had not then had time to look carefully through 'Lorna Doone.' The more I see it, the more I am pleased with the dainty and beautiful way in which you have brought it out. * * * I want to again congratulate you. * * * I shall again not be afraid to let work go into such hands," (our reproducers.)

The Epoch, New York City.

"The reading of the text with the pictures in view will result, in nearly every instance, in a cordial acceptance of the artist's interpretation. * * * * To pick flaws would be mere carping."

THIS BOOK IS A JEWEL IN APPEARANCE.

THE POCKET GEM PRONOUNCING DICTIONARY,

BY LILLA M. TENNEY.

On a new plan. The most useful Pocket Dictionary ever issued. The work of years of study and research. Excellent in scholarship. Practical in all ways. Artistic in point of manufacture. Beautifully bound from special artistic cover designs. Printed at the celebrated University Press. A spelling and pronouncing dictionary rather than a defining one.

HAS OVER ELEVEN THOUSAND WORDS.

All Standard Dictionaries have been Critically Compared in its Construction.

ITS TRUSTWORTHINESS.

In this respect, realizing that what was wished for was not originality, but confidence in the accuracy of the book, the labor, while almost endless, has been strictly confined to critical comparisons of authorities.

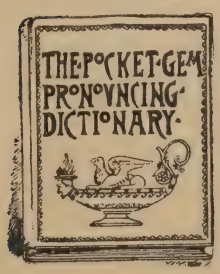
PRICE, FIFTY CENTS.

(As compared with the prices of most other books it would be well worth $1.)

Marvelously complete, wonderfully compact. Most useful small dictionary ever made. Needed by every office man, school teacher, stenographer, tourist, letter-writer, pupil, literate, and certainly illiterate, person throughout our entire land.

Extract from "Sol Pringle's" Chat in Sunday "World" January 27, 1889.

"A GEM OF PUREST RAY SERENE."



"I am now a dangerous man to tackle. The past week my bosom companion has been a little book equal to Webster's and Worcester's dictionaries boiled down into one, and it goes in my vest pocket. If I have any doubt about the spelling or the pronunciation of any word I just draw out my "Pocket Gem Dictionary" and settle the question once for all. It has in it over 11,000 words, and in its preparation all the leading authorities have been carefully consulted. It is a perfect jewel; typography, press-work and binding are exquisite. It has set me right many times during the past week. I've had ten dollars' worth of satisfaction out of it in ten days. Every business or professional man, every teacher or pupil, every editor or stenographer should have one; the educated need it to improve and advise themselves, and the illiterate for obvious reasons."

Whymper's Scrambles Amongst the Alps.

An entirely new edition, containing an ELEGANT MAP and TWELVE Additional FULL PAGE ILLUSTRATIONS of very spirited character, descriptive of Alpine adventure or scenery. Beautifully illustrated. Charmingly written. Tastefully bound. Large Octavo, Full Gilt, Gilt Edges. Price, $3.00. "As fascinating to read as Robinson Crusoe; as charming for the table or book-case as any book of spirited drawing well can be.

PRICE, BOUND IN CLOTH, EACH 50 CENTS.

Any six assorted for $2.50, postage paid. Any eight assorted for $3.25, postage paid. Set of ten assorted for $4.00, postage paid.

Most Successful Books of the Kind Ever Published.

OVER 60,000 Copies have been sold already and the sale is fast increasing.

The authors of the above books have asked every conceivable question that would be likely to come up in the most rigid examination. Every question has a complete and concise answer just below it. There are other question books published, but even the highest priced book is not half as complete on a single branch as these are.

Many teachers are using these Question Books in their schools in the place of text-books.

These Question Books are absolutely without a rival in preparing for Examination, for reviewing Pupils in School, or for use as Reference Books.

The authors of these books are Experienced Teachers.

PLEASE READ WHAT IS SAID OF THEM.

Every testimonial printed here is genuine, not one was solicited or induced by gifts of books or other consideration, and these are only SAMPLES of HUNDREDS of others.

"I have a set of your Question Books, and I think they are the best I ever saw. I would not take twice the amount I paid for them if I could not get another set."—G. O. Sankey (teacher), Bloomville, Seneca County, Ohio.

"I have just received your Question Book on Geography. After due deliberation I am confident in saying that they supply a want long felt in the teachers' circle, as well as for reviews in classes. I predict for them an immense sale."—W. Hole (teacher), Montezuma, Ohio.

"The set that I received some days ago has given entire satisfaction, and deserves the praise of all earnest teachers."—A. E. Long, Salem, Ohio.

"I am so delighted with your Question Books, I have gotten some of my friends to order immediately."—Miss Elvise Hemphill (of Harding College), Mexico, Missouri.

"Your Question Books are just what we want for review."—M. F. Spahr, (teacher), Chicago, Huron Co., Ohio.

"FAIRLY SPARKLES WITH POINTS."

PRICE, $1.00. New. Nothing else like it in matter or form. Drawn largely from the offices of successful houses. Contains dozens of short-cuts in figures. Some of the best are from foreign sources and were never before published in this country. $25 was paid for one single "point," and it is worth that amount. The Lowell Multiplication Rule and the Five-Four-Five Interest Method (both new) are alone worth a small fortune to all who have figuring to do. Bank Checks and other business forms are printed in colors. The entire work is pleasing, abreast of the times, original.

I have received a copy of "One Hundred Lessons in Business," and it is worth its weight in gold.—R. Hardenbergh, Rondout, N. Y.

I must say that I am very favorably impressed with your book. The arrangement is admirable, and the contents exceedingly useful.—C. W. Johnson, Chief Clerk, U. S. Senate, Washington.

Your book is a jewel. I would not part with it for anything, and feel that I never made a better investment.—A. W. Lester, Albany, N. Y.

Quite recently a Philadelphia Banker ordered a dozen copies for his clerks.

As an evidence of my appreciation, I send five dollars, for which send five more copies.—J. J. Atwell, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington.

The dozen books to hand. I am entirely satisfied. This is the first instance in which I felt that I had received more than was promised.—S. P. Campbell, Equitable Brick Works, Philadelphia.

BEST BOOK ON SHORTHAND EVER WRITTEN.

One who cannot learn shorthand to a practicing proficiency from Day's Complete Shorthand Manual will find his vocation lying in some other pursuit or business. I am heartily pleased with this book, as the study is presented in a very attractive form, and the principles plainly and fully stated.—Isaac S. Dement.

Your untiring zeal in making plainer the old pathway to Graham's Standard Phonography is meritorious indeed, and deserves the commendation of all practical writers—and careful consideration of would-be-students.—James H. Garside, Stenographer for the Pennsylvania R. R. Co.

Its utility is not less apparent than its artistic merit. The Block System, originated and copyrighted by Prof. Campbell, is most economical of time in keeping the record, and by the really wonderful condensation which it permits, is just as economical of money. One Register will last an ordinary school two years, costs but 75 cents, and a "Filler" lasting as much longer, costs less than half as much.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

ITS TRUTHS! ITS ERRORS!

By Rev. H. MELVILLE TENNEY.

SECOND EDITION, BOUND IN PAPER, PRICE 25 CENTS.

Dear Sirs:—I am glad to learn that you are about to publish the paper on "Christian Science," recently read to the Congregational Ministers of this city, and also to our Union Ministers' Meeting, by Rev. H. MELVILLE TENNEY. I can bear testimony that it is a thorough, fair, able and interesting discussion of one of the most recent efforts of "Science, falsely so-called," to overthrow the truth. It deserves wide circulation. Yours truly,

H. A. SCHAUFFLER,
Am. Home Missionary Society.

New Zealand After Fifty Years. By EDWARD WAKEFIELD. With numerous illustrations. 1 vol., 8vo., extra cloth..... 2.00

Mr. Wakefield has the faculty of being exhaustive and accurate without being tedious; partly from the habit of studying every subject thoroughly, and partly from the good fortune of possessing a clear, direct, and graphic style. He has the advantage too, in describing strange lands, of being an excellent naturalist. From these causes he has been able, in his book on New Zealand, to give an exact and deeply interesting account of the discovery and settlement of the country; its natural features, its fauna and flora, its trade and commerce, and its present political, social, and industrial condition.

"Is this great Empire which divides Asia with us a power which makes for peace or which makes for war? In the New Europe upon which we are entering must we regard the Tsar as peace-keeper or peace-breaker of the Continent? That is what I went to St. Petersburg to ascertain, and the results of my inquiries are chronicled in these pages. I have included in this volume, which deals primarily with Russia as the peace-keeper of Europe, chapters setting forth what seem to me the salient features of the domestic situation."
